Message from the Commissioner of Official Languages

I am pleased to present the Performance Report of the Office of the Commissioner of Official Languages (OCOL) for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2009.

An important achievement in 2008–2009 was the renewal of my ombudsman role, which is based on two principles: a more effective resolution of complaints with sustainable results, and the prevention of problems that lead to complaints.

OCOL is becoming more proactive in its interventions, driven mainly by our constant concern for ongoing systemic issues to full compliance with the Official Languages Act (the Act). One example of preventive interventions is my study released in December 2008, Raising our Game for Vancouver 2010: Towards a Canadian Model of Linguistic Duality in International Sport. In the report, I issued recommendations to the Vancouver Organizing Committee for the 2010 Olympic and Paralympic Winter Games to ensure appropriate service delivery during the event. OCOL also conducted an official languages awareness campaign with over 20 federal institutions that will have a key role in the 2010 Games. The campaign focused on raising awareness about the importance of integrating official languages into the planning of 2010 initiatives, both in terms of service to the public and the advancement of both official languages.

My staff conducted audits and studies throughout the year, which provided Parliament with reliable information to enable its members to fulfill their important role of holding the federal government accountable for its stewardship of the equal status of English and French in Canada. My 2007–2008 annual report and its seven recommendations informed Parliament, Canadians and government leaders of areas where changes are essential to ensure the equal status of English and French in Canada.

As 2009 marks the 40th anniversary of the enactment of the Act, the timing could not be more suitable to highlight a landmark decision of the Supreme Court of Canada in which I participated as co-appellant during the 2008–2009 period. Indeed, linguistic equality has taken an important step forward with the Supreme Court of Canada's decision in DesRochers v. Canada (Industry), 2009 SCC 8, which will mark history as the first case in which the Supreme Court interpreted the nature and scope of linguistic obligations in communications with and delivery of services to the public under Part IV of the Act. This case will continue to be a reference and a valuable interpretive tool when measuring the compliance of federal institutions.

To ensure that linguistic duality remains a priority in Canada, OCOL continued to monitor the government's actions under the Roadmap for Canada's Linguistic Duality 2008–2013: Acting for the Future, which was announced in June 2008.

OCOL took part in many activities to increase Canadians' awareness of the values of linguistic duality and the important role played by official language minority communities across the country. For example, OCOL was actively involved in promoting both official languages during the 400th anniversary of the founding of Québec City.

Finally, OCOL continued to invest in organizational management, namely to define the requirements of suitable informatics infrastructure, which is essential to program delivery, accountability to Parliament and the internal integration of decisions and planning.

Section I: Overview

1.1 Summary Information

Raison d'être

The Commissioner's mandate is to promote the Official Languages Act, oversee its full implementation, protect the language rights of Canadians and promote linguistic duality and bilingualism in Canada.

Responsibilities

The mandate of the Commissioner of Official Languages is set out in section 56 of the *Official Languages Act*:

It is the duty of the Commissioner to take all actions and measures within the authority of the Commissioner with a view to ensuring recognition of the status of each of the official languages and compliance with the spirit and intent of this Act in the administration of the affairs of federal institutions, including any of their activities relating to the advancement of English and French in Canadian society.

The Commissioner therefore has a mandate to take all measures within his power to ensure that the three main objectives of the Official Languages Act are met, which are to:

- Ensure the equality of English and French in Parliament, the Government of Canada, the federal administration and the institutions subject to the Act;
- Support the development of official language communities in Canada; and
- Advance the equality of status and use of English and French in Canadian society.

The Commissioner of Official Languages is appointed by commission under the Great Seal, after approval by resolution of the House of Commons and the Senate, for a seven-year term. The Commissioner of Official Languages reports directly to Parliament.

In this context, OCOL has a distinct mandate under the Official Languages Act. Each federal institution is responsible for implementing the Act within its area of jurisdiction. As well, the following federal entities have particular responsibilities with respect to official languages (for a description of their specific roles refer to OCOL's Web site at www.ocol-clo.gc.ca/html/mission\_e.php):

- Treasury Board Secretariat
- Department of Canadian Heritage
- Department of Justice
- Public Service Commission of Canada

- Canada School of Public Service
- House of Commons and Senate Standing Committees on Official Languages.

Strategic Outcome and Program Activity Architecture

To pursue its mandate effectively, OCOL's architecture of program activities consists of a single strategic outcome and three program activities (two of an operational nature and one of a management nature) as follows:

Strategic Outcome	Canadians' rights under the Official Languages Act are protected and respected by federal institutions and other organizations subject to the Act; and linguistic duality is promoted in Canadian society.
Program Activity	1. Protection through Compliance Assurance	2. Promotion through Policy and Communications
	3. Internal Services
Sub-Activity<sup>1</sup>	3.1 Governance and Management Support 3.2 Resource Management Services

Program Activity Architecture Crosswalk

OCOL revised the wording of its strategic outcome and program activities with approval from Treasury Board in April 2008. The structure of the Program Activity Architecture (PAA) remained unchanged with a single strategic outcome and resulting program activities. The revised PAA involved no redistribution of financial resources. Descriptions for the program activities were modified slightly, as reflected in Section II of this report. A separate program activity for Internal Services was added to the OCOL PAA as per the revised profile for all federal entities since July 2008.

Former PAA included in 2008–2009 Report on Plans and Priorities	Revised PAA included in 2009–2010 Report on Plans and Priorities
Strategic Outcome: Compliance with and respect for the Official Languages Act by federal institutions and other organizations subject to the Act.	Strategic Outcome: Canadians' rights under the Official Languages Act are protected and respected by federal institutions and other organizations subject to the Act; and linguistic duality is promoted in Canadian society.
Program Activity 1: Compliance Assurance	Program Activity 1: Protection through Compliance Assurance
Program Activity 2: Policy and Communications	Program Activity 2: Promotion through Policy and Communications
	Program Activity 3: Internal Services

<sup>1</sup> Since the third sub-activity identified for small agencies' internal services, namely "Asset Management Services," was not materially relevant to OCOL, it was not included in the PAA.

Alignment of Program Activity Architecture to Government of Canada Outcomes

The Commissioner of Official Languages is an officer of Parliament who reports directly to Parliament and is thereby independent from government.

1.2 Performance Summary

The following table presents the financial and human resources managed by OCOL in 2008–2009.

Financial and Human Resources

2008–2009 Financial Resources ($000)
Planned Spending	Total Authorities	Actual Spending
19,906	22,040	21,167
2008–2009 Human Resources (FTEs*)
Planned	Actual	Difference
177.5	155.3	22.2

* Full-Time Equivalents

OCOL was allocated by Parliament $22.0 million in Total Authorities, namely $19.9 million through Main Estimates (Planned Spending) and $2.1 million through Supplementary Estimates mainly for collective agreement settlements and severance payments. In order to fulfill its mandate, OCOL spent $21.2 million, $0.8 million less than Total Authorities.

Planned FTEs reflect OCOL's allocation of Total Authorities for human resources, details of which are shown in section II of this report. The variance in FTEs is primarily due to reengineering of Compliance Assurance program activity and to ongoing challenges in recruiting personnel resulting in staffing delays.

Additional information is provided in section 3.1 of this report, under Financial Highlights.

Contribution of the Strategic Objectives to the Strategic Outcome

The 2008–2009 Report on Plans and Priorities (RPP) described the four strategic objectives that OCOL pursues, as set out in its 2008–2011 Strategic Plan. This 2008–2009 Performance Report presents OCOL's performance against key commitments made under the four strategic objectives, and Section II, "Analysis by Program Activity," states accomplishments under the PAA.

The following table presents, for each of the four strategic objectives, the key commitments made in the 2008–2009 RPP, a high-level summary of actual performance and a self-assessment of performance status based on the Treasury Board Secretariat's scale<sup>2</sup> of expectations. Note that judgmental assessments were made using information from the regular progress reports and then translated on to the scale since no numeric target was in place in 2008–2009.

<sup>2</sup> Treasury Board Secretariat scale for performance status: exceeded – more than 100% of the expected level of performance (as evidenced by the indicator and target or planned activities and outputs) for the priority or result identified in the corresponding RPP was achieved during the fiscal year; met all – 100% was achieved; mostly met – 80% to 99% was achieved; somewhat met – 60% to 79% was achieved; and not met – less than 60% was achieved.

Strategic Outcome: Canadians' rights under the Official Languages Act are protected and respected by federal institutions and other organizations subject to the Act; and linguistic duality is promoted in Canadian society.
Commitments Made in 2008–2009 RPP	Performance Summary	Performance Status
Strategic Objective 1: Linguistic duality, as a fundamental value, is fully integrated into the culture of federal institutions subject to the Act.
1. Examine ways to improve dispute-resolution processes and prevention activities	In 2008–2009, OCOL completed its examination of ways to improve dispute-resolution processes and prevention activities, and began implementing a new informal dispute resolution mechanism to resolve complaints, which is now called the facilitated resolution process. Out of the 606 admissible complaints received in 2008–2009, 544 (or 90%) were treated or are currently being treated using this process, and the remaining ones are being treated by way of a formal investigation. OCOL also re-examined ways of informing deputy heads of institutions about complaints, and introduced a quarterly report that was sent to 51 deputy heads twice in 2008–2009 instead of a notice of intent for each complaint. In addition, OCOL began developing and implementing specific prevention strategies, including one to improve compliance with the Act at the Toronto Pearson International Airport and another to raise awareness with key federal institutions about official languages in advance of the Vancouver 2010 Olympic and Paralympic Games (see commitment 5 below).	Met all
2. Study the principles of governing horizontal issues while taking into account the mechanisms available to the public administration to ensure the full implementation of all parts of the Act	The Commissioner addressed horizontal governance in his 2007–2008 annual report and presented three recommendations to government on how to improve the horizontal management of official languages www.ocol-clo.gc.ca/html/ar_ra_2007_08_e.php. In addition, while these recommendations have not yet been answered, the government went through transformations<sup>3</sup> in February and March 2009 to simplify its organizational structure, reduce overlapping responsibilities and confirm the role of deputy heads as those having primary responsibility for human resources management in the federal administration. These changes contribute to the level of instability in human resources management and, by extension, in official languages management and coordination. The Commissioner took this opportunity to remind government leaders of the important role bilingualism plays in the public service.	Met all

<sup>3</sup> On February 6, 2009, the Prime Minister announced the creation of the Office of the Chief Human Resources Officer, which reports to the Treasury Board Secretariat. Since March 2, 2009, the Office has been responsible for the duties of the now-abolished Canada Public Service Agency. The Office of the Chief Human Resources Officer also carries out the Treasury Board Secretariat's former compensation and human resources management responsibilities.

Commitments Made in 2008–2009 RPP	Performance Summary	Performance Status
Strategic Objective 2: The vitality of official language minority communities in Canada is continually strengthened.
3. Investigate receivable complaints that involve Part VII of the Act and follow up on the recommendation regarding budget cutbacks that included cancelling the Court Challenges Program	Part VII of the Official Languages Act sets out the federal government's commitment to enhance the vitality of Anglophone and Francophone minorities in Canada and support their development, as well as to foster full recognition and use of both English and French in Canadian society. OCOL received 29 admissible complaints under Part VII of the Act in 2008–2009. This represented 5% of the 606 admissible complaints received during the year. (See section 2.2 of this report for details.) A follow-up was conducted on the Commissioner's recommendation (from the 2007–2008 Annual Report) made to the Treasury Board Secretariat about ensuring the inclusion of Part VII requirements in expenditure reviews. As part of this follow-up, the Commissioner was informed that departments have now been instructed to discuss the impact of their activities on official language communities and to define strategies to mitigate any potential negative impact. In addition, to settle a proceeding pursuant to Part X of the Act commenced by a complainant before the Federal Court based on the Commissioner's investigation into the budget cutbacks that included cancelling the Court Challenges Program, the government announced that it would establish a new language rights support program by the end of 2009.	Met all
4. Evaluate the government's results under phase two of the 2003–2008 Action Plan for Official Languages	The evaluation of the Government of Canada's 2003–2008 Action Plan for Official Languages was completed, with the results included in the Commissioner's 2007–2008 Annual Report. The Government of Canada announced a new action plan to ensure an adequate level of funding for official languages. The Roadmap for Canada's Linguistic Duality 2008–2013: Acting for the Future takes into account some of the concerns expressed by the Commissioner, particularly the inclusion of arts and culture. OCOL is continuing to monitor this file closely, and to urge the government, through various public forums, to ensure that all measures in the Roadmap are implemented to foster the vitality of official language communities. Strategic Objective 3: Linguistic duality is recognized and promoted as a value in a diverse Canadian society.
5. Study how the Organizing Committee for the 2010 Olympic Games applies the requirements of its official languages agreement with the federal government	In December 2008, OCOL published the study Raising our Game for Vancouver 2010: Towards a Canadian Model of Linguistic Duality in International Sport, in which the Commissioner made several recommendations to encourage, on the one hand, the Vancouver Organizing Committee for the 2010 Olympic and Paralympic Winter Games (VANOC) to respect the language requirements set out in Annex A of the Multiparty Agreement and, on the other hand, certain institutions, including Canadian Heritage, to support VANOC in this respect. As well, OCOL conducted an official languages awareness campaign with over 20 federal institutions that have a key role to play in the context of the 2010 Games. The campaign focused on raising awareness about the importance of integrating official languages into planning for 2010 initiatives, both in terms of service to the public and the advancement of both official languages. In general, institutions welcomed the opportunity to discuss their obligations with OCOL.	Met all
6. Highlight the need to promote the learning of both official languages by youth through all levels of education	In the context of the second phase of the 2003–2008 Action Plan for Official Languages, OCOL launched a study on opportunities for learning a second language in Canadian universities. The first phase of the study was a survey that all Canadian universities were asked to complete in order to learn about existing opportunities for French second-language instruction and measures taken by English-language universities to encourage students to learn a second language in university or to maintain their existing knowledge of the second language. The study, to be completed in 2009–2010, also reviews the range of programs offered in Canada by bilingual and French-language universities, as well as the English second-language learning opportunities offered in Quebec.	Mostly met
Strategic Objective 4: OCOL fosters the growth and renewal of its personnel and applies the principles and practices of sound management, taking into account its independence from government.
7. Improve OCOL's performance and risk management	In 2008–2009, OCOL revised its Program Activity Architecture (which received approval from the Treasury Board Secretariat in April 2008), and developed and approved a performance measurement framework to evaluate its work on behalf of Parliament. The framework is being implemented incrementally over three years starting in 2009–2010. OCOL formalized its first corporate risk profile, which will be updated annually and used to inform strategic and operational planning, as well as internal audit planning.	Met all
8. Develop an information management and information technology strategy	A five-year information management and information technology (IM/IT) strategic plan was developed to allow OCOL to benefit from sustainable technological solutions for current and future organizational needs. The implementation plan was initiated in 2008–2009. OCOL developed a short-term funding strategy for its IM/IT investments, and continues to work closely with the Treasury Board Secretariat to prepare a business case that OCOL will present to the Advisory Panel on the Funding and Oversight of Officers of Parliament.	Mostly met

OCOL is satisfied that all of the commitments it has made to advance its four strategic objectives announced in the 2008–2009 RPP were either met or mostly met. By introducing a new informal complaint resolution mechanism and developing prevention strategies such as the Vancouver 2010 awareness campaign, OCOL took measures in 2008–2009 to modernize its ombudsman role to ensure the language rights of Canadians are respected and to increase compliance with the Official Languages Act. As well, OCOL continued to monitor the government's actions and make recommendations in various forums to ensure that linguistic duality in Canada remains a priority. Finally, OCOL continued investing in organizational management, namely to define the requirements of a suitable informatics infrastructure, which is essential to program delivery, the implementation of performance measures to enhance accountability to Parliament and more integrated planning to facilitate decision making.

Risk Analysis

The external and internal factors of OCOL's operating environment that have influenced the organization's performance in 2008–2009 are discussed briefly in the following paragraphs to provide context to this report.

External Factors

OCOL observed ongoing systemic issues related to full compliance with the Official Languages Act, such as active offer, the availability of service in the minority official language and the use of French as a language of work in the federal public service. This, coupled with the current challenges facing Canada on the economic, political and social fronts, may give rise to a perception that the Official Languages Act is less important or less relevant in these particular times. To mitigate this risk, OCOL must remind Parliament and government leaders of the importance of a dynamic vision of linguistic duality and of the need to show ongoing commitment and leadership, especially in the current economic crisis. OCOL began to look at how it can improve its ombudsman role to effect change and create more lasting results for Canadians. For example, through the study released in December 2008, Raising our Game for Vancouver 2010: Towards a Canadian Model of Linguistic Duality in International Sport, the Commissioner issued recommendations to the Vancouver Organizing Committee for the 2010 Olympic and Paralympic Winter Games to ensure appropriate service delivery during the event.

As well, to deliver on its mandate, OCOL must maintain its real and perceived independence from government to provide unbiased advice and information to Parliament and institutions subject to the Act. Yet, the Commissioner of Official Languages is an officer of Parliament who applies central agency administrative policies in part or in whole; as such, his independent status may be challenged if not well understood. To manage this risk, OCOL and other officers of Parliament continued examining central agency policies and requirements and working with the Treasury Board Secretariat to determine the appropriate application of these policies in a manner that respects the independence of officers of Parliament.

Internal Factors

Staff turnover at OCOL was 22% in 2008–2009, including the turnover of several senior management positions. This had some impact on the organization. In addition, a major restructuring exercise took place within one of OCOL’s five sectors, to implement an organizational structure that better meets its current and future needs.

OCOL’s informatic infrastructure currently limits the organization in the scope of some of its compliance assurance, promotion of linguistic duality and accountability activities. OCOL must therefore renew its infrastructure and related technological tools, which requires new investments. OCOL is working in close cooperation with the Treasury Board Secretariat to prepare a proposal that will be presented to the Advisory Panel on the Funding and Oversight of Officers of Parliament.

Expenditure Profile

OCOL’s actual spending for 2008–2009 was $21.2 million. Over the past three years, actual spending has increased by 16%. This increase was primarily due to collective agreement settlements and additional funding received for the development and implementation of the access to information and internal audit functions. The chart below shows OCOL’s spending trend over a three-year period. Additional information is provided in section 3.1 of this report, under Financial Highlights.

Voted and Statutory Items

The following table shows the voted items Parliament approved through the Main Estimates, with its supply bills.

($000)		2006–2007	2007–2008	2008–2009
Voted or Statutory Item	Truncated Vote or Statutory Wording	Actual Spending	Actual Spending	Main Estimates	Actual Spending
20	Program expenditures	17,931	18,384	17,764	19,173
Statutory items	Contributions to employee benefit plans	1,901	1,962	2,142	1,994
	Total	19,832	20,346	19,906	21,167

Section II: Analysis by Program Activity

2.1 Strategic Outcome

This section presents OCOL's progress in 2008–2009 toward its strategic outcome through activities carried out under the three program activities of its PAA (or OCOL's ongoing activities grouped under six expected results<sup>4</sup>). Each of the following sub-sections discusses one program activity in the following manner:

- Describing what is involved in the program activity (defined according to implementation of the Management, Resources, and Results Structure Policy);
- Reporting on resource use in 2008–2009;
- Presenting a summary of OCOL's performance based on expectations, including a performance status using the Treasury Board Secretariat scale (refer to Section 1.2 for a description of the scale);
- Discussing what benefits Canadians derived from the activities delivered by OCOL in terms of the protection of and respect for language rights and the promotion of linguistic duality in Canadian society;
- Providing an overall analysis of OCOL's performance in 2008–2009; and
- Identifying lessons learned from this year's activities.

In the next few years, OCOL will be in a position to provide a more results-based performance story (compared to this report, which is primarily activity based) since in 2009–2010 it started to implement its performance measurement framework developed in 2008–2009. As mentioned earlier in this report, OCOL applied judgmental assessments using information from the regular monitoring reports to use the Treasury Board Secretariat's scale since no numeric target was in place in 2008–2009.

2.2 Program Activity 1: Protection Through Compliance Assurance

Activity Description

Through this program activity, OCOL investigates complaints filed by citizens who believe their language rights have not been respected, evaluates compliance with the Official Languages Act by federal institutions and other organizations subject to the Act through performance measurements and audits, and intervenes proactively to prevent non-compliance with the Act. As well, OCOL may intervene before the courts in cases that deal with non-compliance with the Official Languages Act or the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

<sup>4</sup> The expected results stated in the 2008–2009 RPP are essentially the same ones presented in this 2008–2009 performance report, with only minor wording changes.

Program Activity 1: Protection Through Compliance Assurance
2008–2009 Financial Resources ($000)			2008–2009 Human Resources (FTEs)
Planned Spending	Total Authorities	Actual Spending	Planned	Actual	Difference
9,133	10,113	9,537	90.3	71.6	18.7

Parliament approves appropriations for OCOL, and these resources are allocated to program activities in order to fulfill OCOL's mandate. In 2008-2009, $10.1 million and 90.3 FTEs were allocated to this program activity, including its share of Internal Services.

Total Authorities include the Main Estimates (Planned Spending) approved at the beginning of the year and Supplementary Estimates approved during the year. The increase of $0.4 million (4 percent) in Total Authorities from 2007–2008 is mainly due to its share of collective agreement settlements, payments of severance pay, parental benefits and vacation pay.

Planned FTEs reflect the resources available as part of Total Authorities. In 2008-2009, 71.6 full-time equivalent (FTE) employees were used. This represents 79.0% percent of the planned 90.3 FTEs. It also represents a decrease of 1.4 (1.9 percent) in the number of FTE employees used from last year, due to reengineering activities and subsequent delays in staffing. In 2007–2008, OCOL used 73 FTE employees, representing 84.9 percent of the planned 86 FTE employees.

Additional info is provided in section 3.1 of this report, under Financial Highlights.

Expected Results	Performance Summary	Performance Status
1. Canadians receive timely and appropriate responses to their complaints, requests for action and inquiries	Investigations: From April 1, 2008 to March 31, 2009, OCOL received 785 complaints related to the implementation of the Official Languages Act. Of those complaints, 606 (77%) were considered admissible because, in OCOL's opinion, they related to an obligation set out in the Act, involved an institution subject to the Act and concerned a specific incident. Of the 606 admissible complaints recorded during this period, 62% involved language of service; 17%, language of work; 5%, the advancement of English and French; 9%, the language requirements of positions in the federal public service; and 1%, equitable participation. In total, OCOL closed 513 complaint files during the fiscal year, with 927 files remaining open as of March 31, 2009. As mentioned in Section 1.2 of this report, under Commitment 1, OCOL began implementing a new dispute resolution process applicable to most complaints, to provide a more effective service to Canadians where appropriate. OCOL also started developing service standards in 2008–2009 to respond in a more timely fashion to complaints beginning in 2009–2010. Requests for information: In 2008–2009, OCOL responded to more than 400 requests for information by telephone and in writing on the application of the Official Languages Act and related subjects.	Mostly met

Benefits for Canadians from this Program Activity

This program activity of Protection Through Compliance Assurance directly addresses the needs of Canadians to have their language rights protected through the investigation of complaints, the audit of institutions, the preparation of report cards, prevention initiatives and the use of court remedy. The Commissioner of Official Languages is an officer of Parliament, independent from government, to whom Canadians can turn with questions or concerns about their language rights. The Commissioner's annual report is an opportunity to increase parliamentarians' and Canadians' awareness of the status of Canada's two official languages and to identify areas requiring improvement through recommendations outlined in the Report.

Performance Analysis

In 2008–2009, OCOL met nearly all of its commitments with respect to this program activity. All major functions underwent significant changes as a result of the renewal of the Commissioner's ombudsman role, including the complaint resolution process, the audit process and official languages report cards. Highlights for the year include the successful introduction of the facilitated resolution process for complaints and the new airport report cards. Dealing with a backlog of complaints and staffing issues were some of the challenges affecting Expected Result 1 above.

Lessons Learned

Although the backlog of complaints was slightly reduced, complaints were not always resolved as quickly as desired, due in part to the transition to a new complaint resolution process, which involved training gaps, and in part to staff turnover. Ensuring an adequate capacity level of resources to effectively respond to complaints is a priority in 2009–2010. In addition, the transition to a new complaint resolution process has underlined the need for new IM/IT infrastructure to provide managers with the data they need to manage this process.

2.3 Program Activity 2: Promotion Through Policy and Communications

Activity Description

Through this program activity, OCOL works with parliamentarians, federal institutions and other organizations subject to the Official Languages Act, official language communities and the Canadian public to promote linguistic duality. OCOL builds links between federal institutions, official language communities and the different levels of government to help them better understand the needs of official language communities, the importance of bilingualism and the value of respecting Canada's linguistic duality. To fulfill its promotion role, OCOL conducts research, studies and public awareness activities, and intervenes with senior federal officials to instil an organizational culture that fully integrates linguistic duality.

During the congress, a questionnaire game on language rights was organized to promote language rights in an original way to a larger audience. The activity was an outstanding success and resulted in effective cooperation among key players from the government, legal and community sectors to share relevant information on current affairs involving language rights. Since 2009 is the 40th anniversary of the Official Languages Act, OCOL reviewed its global communications strategy for 2008–2010 to include activities that will highlight this event. The Young Professionals Network was established at OCOL in 2007 for young employees and the young at heart, in part to give them a voice within the organization, to provide training opportunities and to allow them to become ambassadors for official languages and OCOL to other public servants and Canadian society. As an official languages ambassador, the Network launched a strategy in 2008 to better understand the issues and challenges involved in language of work (Part V of the Act) facing young public servants in federal institutions, and to implement measures that will help them overcome these challenges. A discussion forum has already been held with young public servants working in the field of official languages to help the Network better understand their situation. Another discussion forum open to young public servants from linguistic majorities and minorities as well as an awareness campaign are being planned for the fall of 2009. Through its efforts, the Network is seeking to make young public servants aware of their language-of-work rights and to find ways to change the organizational culture of federal institutions so linguistic duality becomes recognized as a value rather than a burden. Court Interventions: In December 2008, the Commissioner appeared as an intervener before the Supreme Court of Canada in the cases of Ministre de l'Éducation, du Loisir et du Sport, et al. v. Hong Ha Nguyen, et al. as well as Ministre de l'Éducation, du Loisir et du Sport, et al. v. Talwinder Bindra. While no decision has been rendered during the relevant period, the Commissioner's participation will surely contribute to the interpretation of the Charter rights involved. The judgment of the Court will serve as a tool in the future to interpret language rights under section 23 of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms. Regional Liaison With Official Language Communities: Meetings and presentations were organized in the regions with organizations and federal institutions as well as other levels of government in 2008–2009. The forum also aimed to develop ties with participants, to pursue and expand on this crucial dialogue. A report on the forum will be published on OCOL's Web site in 2009–2010.	Met all

Benefits for Canadians from this Program Activity

This program activity of Promotion Through Policy and Communications addresses the right of Canadians to learn more about Canada's two official languages. One of the Commissioner's main responsibilities is to support linguistic duality in both the public service and Canadian society. To carry out this responsibility, the Commissioner raises Canadians' awareness of the benefits of linguistic duality, works with community organizations and encourages various organizations subject to the Act to give official languages and minority communities the attention they deserve. The tabling of the Commissioner's annual report provides an opportunity to increase parliamentarians' and Canadians' awareness of the status of Canada's two official languages in society, in addition to identifying areas of improvement through the recommendations outlined in the report. The promotion and education responsibilities are carried out mainly through research, studies and public awareness activities.

Performance Analysis

The 400th anniversary of Québec City provided an opportunity for OCOL to increase Canadians' awareness of the values of linguistic duality and the important role that official language communities play across the country. As well, in 2009, the Official Languages Act is celebrating its 40th anniversary and OCOL takes this opportunity, through a series of activities and research launched in 2008–2009, to mark this milestone by promoting the role and importance of bilingualism in Canada.

In 2008–2009, OCOL met all of its commitments with respect to this program activity. It used innovative approaches in promoting the values and contribution of linguistic duality in Canada.

Lessons Learned

Building on activities such as the 400th anniversary of Québec City and taking an active role during such events provides OCOL with a greater opportunity to promote linguistic duality in Canada. Working closely with others is a practice OCOL will continue to apply through its various activities, including research.

2.4 Program Activity 3: Internal Services

Activity Description

Internal Services are groups of related activities and resources administered to support the needs of OCOL's other program activities and corporate obligations. OCOL is a small organization, and as such, its Internal Services include only two sub-activities: governance and management support, and resource management services.

Reporting requirements for 2008-2009 are in line with the 2008-2009 RPP and Internal Services' resources allocated and spent are reallocated between the two approved program activities reported in the Main Estimates and Public Accounts (see Section 1 of this report).

Given the legislated requirement to pursue court action under the law, legal services form part of Program Activity 1 – Protection Through Compliance Assurance. Equally, given its specific mandate, OCOL's communications services form part of Program Activity 2 – Promotion Through Policy and Communications.

It has developed an IT business continuity plan and has started to integrate security requirements into the infrastructure technical specifications. ## Performance Analysis

OCOL has taken a number of important first steps in 2008–2009 by integrating the planning requirements for its human, financial and IM/IT resources, and by preparing for the implementation of its performance measurement framework. These represent notable changes for the organization, which will be implemented gradually over several years. OCOL has also worked at developing a funding strategy to address the serious challenge of renewing its informatics infrastructure.

Lessons Learned

In its effort to improve management practices, OCOL takes into account its small size as an organization and its limited capacity. The transition to more integrated planning is already producing results by providing the management team with better information for the decisions it makes. Nonetheless, this is a major change that requires new tools and methods. Also, the performance measurement exercise launched this year is demonstrating the degree to which renewed information technology and information management infrastructure is necessary.

Section III: Supplementary Information

This section presents the financial highlights, lists some supplementary information tables relevant to OCOL, and refers to other items of interest.

3.1 Financial Highlights

Audited Financial Statements

OCOL's audited financial statements for the year ended March 31, 2009 can be found on OCOL's website at http://www.ocol-clo.gc.ca/html/finstate\_etatsfin\_e.php

Planned Spending, Total Authorities and Actual Spending

The headings Planned Spending, Total Authorities and Actual Spending displayed in financial tables earlier on in this report can be explained in summary form as follows:

- Planned Spending is the basic funding provided by Parliament at the beginning of the year by means of the Main Estimates.
- Total Authorities include both the Main Estimates (Planned Spending) for the year as well as any additional or supplementary funding provided by Parliament during the year.
- Actual Spending represents the cash related expenses and acquisitions of assets such as tangible capital assets made during the year and not the non-cash expenses incurred during the year as per the financial statements (i.e. services provided to us free of charge by other departments).

Parliamentary appropriations approved (Total Authorities)

Section II of this report presents the financial and human resources approved by Parliament and allocated to OCOL as per its Program Activity Architecture approved by the Treasury Board – refer to section 1.1 of this report.

In 2008-2009, Parliament approved $22 million. These appropriations are composed of $19.9 million in Main Estimates (Planned Spending) and a further $2.1 million in Supplementary Estimates. The $2.1 million include the carry-forward funding<sup>7</sup> ($0.8 million), collective agreement settlements ($0.8 million) and parental leave and severance payments ($0.5 million).

In 2007-2008, Parliament had approved $21.2 million. The increase of $0.8 million in 2008-2009 is mainly related to the increase in Main Estimates pertaining to the development and implementation of the access to information and the internal audit functions in 2007-2008.

<sup>7</sup> OCOL, subject to Parliament approval, may carry forward lapsed amounts of up to 5 percent of its operating budget (based on Main Estimates program expenditures) into the next fiscal year. OCOL lapsed $0.8 million mainly due to reengineering and staffing activities.

Parliamentary appropriations used (Actual Spending)

In 2008–2009, OCOL spent $21.2 million of the $22 million in parliamentary appropriations approved. The amount spent by program activity is reported in section II of this report.

Full-time equivalents used

The summary table of resources in section 1.2 of this report indicates that OCOL used 155.3 full-time equivalent (FTE) employees in 2008–2009, which represents 87.5 percent of its planned 177.5 FTEs. Despite the ongoing challenges in recruiting and retaining staff, this represents an increase of 4.3 (3 percent) in the number of FTE employees used from last year. In 2007–2008, OCOL used 151 FTE employees, representing 90.5 percent of its planned 167 FTE employees. The increase of 10.5 FTE from 2007–2008 is related to 6.0 additional FTEs as a result of additional appropriations received for the development and implementation of the access to information and the internal audit functions. OCOL further increased the planned FTEs by 4.0 by reallocating resources originally planned for other operating expenses in order to meet operational requirements related to internal services.

Condensed Statement of Operations for the year ended March 31, 2009

	2008-2009			2007-2008

Net cost of operations	$ 11,056,571	$ 13,877,134	$ 24,933,705	$ 23,211,472

Note 1: Other expenses regroup utilities, materials and supplies, communication and printing, repairs and maintenance, rentals of photocopiers and other items. The increase from 2007–2008 is mainly related to new computer operating software for the network.

OCOL must report appropriations used (Actual Spending) which are displayed in the Public Accounts of Canada and not appropriations set aside for non-cash expenses.

The timing differences are reconciled as follows:

	2008-2009	2007-2008
Net cost of operations per audited financial statements	$ 24,933,705	$ 23,211,472
Add or Deduct: Non-cash expenses affecting net cost of operations but not affecting appropriations
Amortization of tangible capital assets	(744,219)	(751,570)
Services provided without charge by other government departments (Note 2)	(2,922,992)	(2,691,000)
Increase in accrued employee severance benefits	(501,834)	(180,223)
Other adjustments	(50,029)	80,017
	20,714,631	19,668,696
Add : Cash expenses not affecting net cost of operations but affecting appropriations
Tangible capital asset acquisitions	452,124	676,928
Current year appropriations used (Actual Spending)	$ 21,166,755	$ 20,345,624

Note 2: the Services provided without charge by other government departments refer mainly to the accommodations provided by Public Works and Government Services Canada for the Ottawa headquarters and five regional offices and three satellite offices ($1.7 million) – reported separately in the financial statements and contributions covering employers' share of employees' insurance premiums and expenditures paid by Treasury Board Secretariat ($1.1 million) – reported as part of the benefits in the financial statements.

Cost of operations reported in the audited financial statements

In 2008–2009, OCOL's net cost of operations was $25 million, as reported in OCOL's audited financial statements.

This increase of $1.8 million (7 percent) from 2007–2008 is mainly due to increases in salary and benefits of $1.7 million explained by an increase of 4.3 FTEs from 2007-2008, collective agreement settlements, payments of severance pay, parental benefits and vacation pay, provision for accrued severance benefits and OCOL's share of the TBS-employer's share of insurance premiums. Other operating expenses have increased overall by $0.1 million. The latter includes Professional and Special Services. Being a small agency, OCOL does not have on staff all the expertise required to fulfil its mandate. These services much as in 2007-2008, represent the second highest expense after salaries and benefits: roughly 17% of the Net cost of operations.

Allocation of cost of operations by program activity

The audited 2008-2009 Financial Statements displays OCOL's allocation of the $25 million to program activities.

The Conformity Assurance Program Activity represents 44% of Operating Expenses whereas the Policy and Communications Program Activity represents 56%.

Allocation of cost of operations by expense categories

The audited 2008-2009 Financial Statements also report $25 million in operating costs.

Salaries and Employee Benefits represent 66% of Operating Expenses whereas Other Operating Expenses represent 34%.
