Ministers' Message

The Honourable Peter Van Loan
Minister for International Trade

The Honourable Lawrence Cannon
Minister of Foreign Affairs

It is our distinct pleasure to present the 2009-2010 Departmental Performance Report of Foreign Affairs and International Trade Canada (DFAIT). The following pages describe a wide range of substantive accomplishments, all of which reflect DFAIT's core business: its policy making, policy coordination, and related foreign affairs and international commerce programs; its international commercial, consular and passport services for Canadians; and its management of Canada's international platform.

Economic recovery is, without a doubt, our government's top priority and the single most important issue facing Canadians today. DFAIT has made a considerable contribution in this area in 2009-2010. We worked to prepare for the G-20 Summit in Toronto, which addressed key global issues including the importance of fiscal consolidation and fighting protectionism. The department delivered the Canada-United States Agreement on Government Procurement, in response to the "Buy American" provisions in the American stimulus legislation, and advanced Canada's free trade agenda, in particular through the launch of negotiations with the European Union.

While global economic recovery was the defining issue of 2009-2010, our government is also committed to international stability and to creating a safer, more secure world. In Afghanistan, the department is coordinating Canada's efforts on a range of issues, including security, governance and regional cooperation. DFAIT's efforts have also positioned Canada as a global leader in responding to the devastating earthquake in Haiti in January 2010 and in helping our hemispheric partner rebuild for the future.

Canada is also placing an increased emphasis on its Arctic sovereignty, and DFAIT has been integral to the government's efforts in this area.

In carrying out its mandate, DFAIT is finding new and better ways to support Canadians around the world. This includes opening new trade offices in key markets and establishing an Emergency Watch and Response Centre to coordinate the government services that help Canadians during emergencies abroad.

In an increasingly complex global environment, meeting Canada's global priorities requires a modern, agile and cost-effective foreign and trade ministry, we are proud to say that DFAIT is delivering.

To find out more about the department's achievements in 2009-2010 and to learn more about the department, we invite you to consult the DFAIT website.¹

Executive Summary

DFAIT is among the most complex departments in the Government of Canada, responsible for the conduct of Canada's international affairs, including global trade and commerce. The scope of its mandate and the complexity of its activities, which are reflected throughout this report, require two representatives in the federal Cabinet and two Parliamentary secretaries, as well as a minister of state, two deputy ministers and an associate deputy minister. DFAIT is the leader across government in shaping Canada's positions on global issues and responses to international events, managing bilateral and multilateral relationships, and delivering international programs. This work allows Canada to advance its economic and political interests, to be more engaged in the international community, and to assist Canadians working, living and travelling abroad.

The department manages Canada's network abroad (173 missions,² 140 points of service worldwide and 18 regional offices), enabling the work outside Canada of 30 partners.³ Canada's global footprint, including interim operations, is as follows: Africa and the Middle East: 36 missions and 30 points of service; Asia Pacific: 36 and 35; Europe: 44 and 36; Latin America and the Caribbean: 28 and 18; and North America, including Mexico: 34 and 21. In 2009-2010, the department (including Passport Canada) had more than 13,000 active employees.

What follows is a summary of DFAIT's highest-level results for 2009-2010, as they pertain to the three strategic outcomes. The results below also link to DFAIT's four priorities for the year, as identified in its 2009-2010 Report on Plans and Priorities (RPP): (1) greater economic opportunity for Canada, with a focus on growing/emerging markets; (2) United States and the hemisphere; (3) Afghanistan, including in the context of neighbouring countries; and (4) transforming the department. In addition, the following results include other key achievements related to DFAIT's ongoing work (e.g. its response to critical international events such as the earthquake in Haiti, and improvements made to its commercial, consular and passport services).

1. Canada's International Agenda

Seizing Global Economic Opportunities to Ensure Canada's Growth and Prosperity: The global economic downturn and the ongoing fragile recovery have underscored the need to boost Canadian engagement in global value chains; secure competitive access to global markets and networks for Canadian businesses; increase foreign direct investment in Canada and Canadian direct investment around the world; and forge stronger linkages between Canada's science and technology (S&T) community and global innovation networks. This is the purpose of the government's Global Commerce Strategy, which achieved the following results in 2009-2010:

- launch of negotiations toward a comprehensive economic and trade agreement with the European Union, and of free trade agreement negotiations with Ukraine, as well as continued talks with the Caribbean Community (CARICOM), Republic of Korea, the Central America Four (El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras and Nicaragua) and the Dominican Republic, and exploratory meetings with Morocco and Turkey;
 - implementation of free trade agreements with Iceland, Switzerland, Liechtenstein and Norway (the European Free Trade Association) and Peru, and efforts toward bringing concluded agreements with Colombia, Jordan and Panama into force;
 - launch of a Joint Study with India to explore the parameters of a possible comprehensive economic partnership agreement;
 - foreign investment promotion and protection agreements were signed with Jordan, the Czech Republic, the Slovak Republic, Latvia and Romania, while negotiations were successfully concluded with Kuwait, Bahrain, Madagascar and Hungary, and talks continued with China, India, Mongolia, Poland, Indonesia, Vietnam, Tunisia and Tanzania; and
 - air transport agreements were signed with the European Union, Japan, South Africa, Cuba, Morocco, Ethiopia, Tunisia and El Salvador.
- Continuing the expansion of Canada's presence in key emerging markets, DFAIT opened six new trade offices in China⁴ and opened new missions in Ahmedabad, India and in Porto Alegre, Brazil. The department established a network of Canadian trade and policy officials in Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) countries to enhance trade and better coordinate Canadian positions on ASEAN regional issues.
 - While DFAIT pursued an ambitious agenda of bilateral and regional trade agreements, negotiations under the Doha Round of the World Trade Organization remained a priority for Canada.
 - DFAIT generated support for the G-20 Framework for Strong, Sustainable, and Balanced Growth, including fiscal consolidation targets, plus international acceptance of financial sector regulatory reform through the G-20.

² At Canada's missions, the federal government is directly responsible for the staff, premises and assets. The missions can take the form of embassies, high commissions, embassies/high commissions (program) offices, offices of embassies/high commissions, representative offices, multilateral or permanent missions, consulates general, consulates, or consular agencies.

³ Partners are federal departments and agencies, as well as co-locators. Co-locators include Crown corporations, provincial governments and foreign governments.

- The Investment Cooperation (INC) program of the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA) was transferred to DFAIT in January 2010. INC will support private sector engagement in developing countries to foster sustained economic growth and the reduction of poverty.
- Canada and the United States concluded the Canada-U.S. Agreement on Government Procurement, allowing Canadian companies to participate in U.S. infrastructure projects financed under the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act.
- Activities under DFAIT's International Science and Technology Partnerships Program resulted in six new research and development (R&D) initiatives with China, worth $6.9 million, and four new R&D initiatives with India, worth $6.7 million.

Preparing for Canada's International Year: The eyes of the world were particularly drawn to Canada in 2010, as this country hosted several major events, including the Vancouver 2010 Winter Games, the G-8 and G-20 summits, and the G-8 Foreign Ministers' Meeting. These events presented extraordinary opportunities for Canada not only to provide leadership on key global issues, but also to showcase the country to the world.

- DFAIT undertook intensive planning and coordination in preparation for the G-8 and G-20 summits, set the agenda for Canada's G-8 and G-20 presidencies, and hosted the G-8 Foreign Ministers' Meeting.
- During the Vancouver 2010 Winter Games, DFAIT undertook comprehensive investor outreach, which included the campaign on "2010 Reasons to Do Business in Canada."

Deepening Relations with the United States and the Americas: Canada's relationship with its closest neighbour, the United States, is vital and productive. The two countries have the world's largest trading relationship, along with a history of cooperation in defending the continent and supporting freedom, democracy and human rights around the world. In the larger neighbourhood of the Americas, Canada has increased its engagement to advance a wide range of common interests.

- Building on a major investment in issue analysis and policy development, DFAIT helped reposition Canada's relationship with the United States to encompass a more strategic, whole-of-government agenda. Sustained engagement between the two countries' leaders and senior Cabinet ministers included a visit to Washington, D.C., by the Prime Minister as well as 35 ministerial visits to the United States. Important achievements included an agreement pertaining to the "Buy American" provisions of the U.S. stimulus legislation, the launch of a Canada-U.S. Clean Energy Dialogue and negotiations to amend the Great Lakes Water Quality Agreement, establishment of a twice-yearly ministerial dialogue on border management, cooperation in restructuring of the automotive sector, and an unprecedented level of civil and military cooperation and coordination in and on Afghanistan. Haiti's reconstruction was another important area of bilateral cooperation. DFAIT played a leading role in support of Canada's participation in the G-20 meeting in Pittsburgh (September 2009) and the Nuclear Security Summit in Washington, D.C. (April 2010).
- Following the imposition of visa requirements for Mexicans travelling to Canada, Canada undertook sustained high-level engagement with Mexico. In addition, bilateral consultations with Mexico increased cooperation related to police training and capacity building, justice sector reform, and counter-narcotics programs and information sharing.
- DFAIT's contribution of more than $7 million increased the capacity of states in the Americas to combat transnational crime. The department established the Anti-Crime Capacity Building Program to strengthen regional cooperation in the Americas in the fight against crime, particularly the illicit drug trade, corruption and human trafficking.
- DFAIT established regional policy centres focused on peace and security (in Panama City) and democratic governance (in Lima, Peru).
- DFAIT's Global Peace and Security Fund delivered $42.8 million in programming in the Americas, including $14.9 million in Haiti; $5 million in Colombia (including legal support for 500 victims of conflict), and $1 million in Guatemala, including efforts to enhance cooperation between security and justice agencies.

Leading Canada's Response to the Earthquake in Haiti: The department marshaled its resources to lead the whole-of-government response to the Haiti earthquake, while continuing to deliver on its priorities and commitments around the world.

- Within hours of the January 2010 earthquake, DFAIT initiated a coordinated whole-of-government response, which would endure for several weeks, ensuring that Canada responded to the urgent needs of Canadians in distress and deployed critically needed humanitarian assistance to support the people of Haiti. Throughout the emergency response, DFAIT ensured close coordination among the multiple federal departments and agencies, and with the Government of Haiti, and ensured collaboration with the Canadian provinces and territories, the private sector, Canadian and international non-governmental and international organizations, and other donors.
- Canada played a leadership role in coordinating an effective international response to the crisis by hosting the Ministerial Preparatory Conference in Montreal to establish a clear and common international vision for early recovery and longer-term reconstruction in Haiti.
- In collaboration with CIDA and the Department of Finance, DFAIT worked to ensure a leadership role for Canada in Haiti's recovery and reconstruction by co-chairing the UN International Donors' Conference Towards a New Future for Haiti in March 2010.

Providing Whole-of-Government Coordination of Canada's Afghan Mission: Canada is in Afghanistan as part of a NATO-led effort operating under the authority of the United Nations.

- DFAIT supported Canada's continued leadership in addressing issues related to Afghan security, governance and regional cooperation through participation in the London Conference on Afghanistan in January 2010.
- DFAIT provided whole-of-government leadership and coordination of Canada's Afghan mission. A significant achievement was the launch at the G-8 Foreign Ministers' Meeting in Gatineau, Quebec, of the G-8 Afghanistan-Pakistan Border Region Prosperity Initiative. DFAIT facilitated the Dubai Process as the primary mechanism for Afghanistan-Pakistan border management and supported the U.S.-led focus on the Afghanistan-Pakistan border (the Holbrooke plan). The department also supported implementation of initiatives under the Stabilization and Reconstruction Task Force (START), Counter-Terrorism Capacity Building Program and Afghanistan Counter Narcotics Program aligned with DFAIT-led priorities of promoting rule of law, good governance, border management and reconciliation.

Asserting Canada's Role as an Arctic Nation: The Arctic is fundamental to Canada's national identity and represents tremendous potential for Canada's future. In part as a result of climate change and the search for new resources, the geopolitical significance of the region and the implications for Canada have never been greater.

- The Ministers of Foreign Affairs and Indian Affairs and Northern Development released the government's Northern Strategy.⁵
- DFAIT finalized the Arctic Foreign Policy, the international dimension of the government's Northern Strategy, to develop a more strategic approach to international Arctic policy issues.
- Canada hosted a meeting of the foreign ministers of the Arctic Ocean coastal states and established the Canadian International Centre for the Arctic Region.⁶
- Canada and the United States agreed to collaborate on a survey of the Arctic continental shelf and to discuss the maritime boundary in the Beaufort Sea.

Contributing to Global Efforts on Counterterrorism and Non-Proliferation: Complex problems such as international terrorism require solutions that harness expertise in diplomacy, intelligence, security and law enforcement, customs and immigration, transportation, justice and finance.

- DFAIT announced a multi-year contribution of $180 million to fund new projects under Canada's Global Partnership Program, which works to prevent terrorists' acquisition of weapons and materials of mass destruction. It also announced the geographic expansion of the Global Partnership Program to extend beyond the former Soviet Union.
- At their March 2010 meeting, the G-8 foreign ministers issued a Statement on Nuclear Non-Proliferation, Disarmament and Peaceful Uses of Nuclear Energy, a contribution to the May 2010 Review Conference of the Parties to the Treaty on the Non-Proliferation of Nuclear Weapons.⁷
- The department led the whole-of-government preparation for Canada's participation at the April 2010 Nuclear Security Summit in Washington. It also ensured Canadian leadership on nuclear non-proliferation issues in multilateral forums such as the United Nations, successfully advocating a fourth round of UN Security Council sanctions to address Iran's nuclear program.

Ensuring Canada's Active Participation in the UN: The United Nations is central to Canadian foreign policy. It provides an invaluable forum at which countries can resolve differences and pursue shared objectives.

- DFAIT continued to campaign actively for a non-permanent seat for Canada on the UN Security Council for 2011-2012, while developing options for Canada's Security Council agenda in the event that Canada wins the October 2010 vote.
- DFAIT continued to represent Canada's interests at the UN, including leading a resolution on the human rights situation in Iran for the seventh year in a row. The resolution was adopted by the General Assembly in November 2009 by the highest margin ever.

2. International Services for Canadians

Improving DFAIT's Commercial, Consular and Passport Services for Canadians: Based on client feedback and other performance indicators, DFAIT continuously takes steps to upgrade and improve these services.

Commercial services: There was rising demand for trade commissioner services throughout 2009-2010. A total of 37,748 individual services were delivered to clients, which represents an increase of 14% over the previous year, and the number of Canada clients served reached 13,252, an 11% increase. To better support Canadian businesses, DFAIT opened new missions and increased staff in key emerging markets, while adding one new regional office in Canada.

⁷ <http://g8.gc.ca/ministers-meetings/foreign-ministers/g8-foreign-ministers-statement-on-nuclear-non-proliferation-disarmament-and-peaceful-uses-of-nuclear-energy>

According to an econometric analysis conducted by DFAIT's Office of the Chief Economist, in collaboration with a leading academic in the trade economics field, the Trade Commissioner Service (TCS) has a consistently positive impact on the performance of Canadian exporters. Exporters that receive trade commissioner services have an average export value 18% higher than comparable exporters who do not receive services. The study showed that every dollar spent on TCS services results in $27 in increased exports. TCS assistance also plays a strong role in helping firms to diversify into new markets and to introduce new products in export markets. On average, TCS clients export to more than 35% more markets with over 15% more products than non-clients.

DFAIT referred 258 potential foreign investors to its domestic partners—primarily provinces, territories and municipalities—and assisted in arranging 155 exploratory company visits to Canada. DFAIT's investment network facilitated 106 foreign greenfield and expansion investments in Canada, compared to 97 reported the previous year, despite a 10% decrease in worldwide investment in 2009.

Consular: DFAIT reorganized consular activities to better meet evolving emergency management needs, established a robust contingency planning function, and created the first of three planned regional consular and emergency support offices staffed with experienced management consular officers. Planning is well advanced to establish the new Emergency Watch and Response Centre at DFAIT headquarters, which will improve whole-of-government coordination and management of all forms of emergencies abroad.

Following the January earthquake in Haiti, consular staff and other DFAIT employees worked on a 24/7 basis, handling over 49,500 calls to the department's Emergency Operations Centre and evacuating some 4,620 Canadians. An additional 1,500 Canadians were assisted in more than 18 other emergencies abroad, including earthquakes in Chile and Sumatra, mudslides in Peru, and the capsizing of the tall ship SV Concordia off the coast of Brazil, which was carrying Canadian students.

Passport: Passport Canada simplified the passport renewal process, increased passport printing capacity, expanded the number of points of service, instituted ongoing monitoring and tracking to forecast demand fluctuations, and developed a contingency plan to increase operational capacity and respond more effectively to spikes in demand. Issuance of the e-passport, embedded with an electronic chip, began as a pilot project in 2009. Work is progressing with respect to broader availability by 2012.

Passport Canada won the 2009 Institute of Public Administration of Canada/Deloitte Public Sector Leadership Award gold medal for its response to the surge in passport demand in 2007-2008.

3. Canada's International Platform

DFAIT must ensure that it can keep pace with a rapidly changing world as well as with the evolving needs of Canadians. To this end, it continues to undergo modernization throughout its operations.

- In 2009-2010, the Government of Canada officially opened seven new missions abroad, closed six missions, and opened one regional office in Canada. In addition, interim operations were initiated for five other missions and a regional service centre (Thames Valley, London, United Kingdom). The regional service centre in London serves missions in Europe, the Middle East and Africa, as part of the department's new service delivery model to streamline common services and provide better support to Canadian missions abroad. Significant progress was made to establish a regional service centre in the United States as well.
- DFAIT met its objectives of ensuring a high level of satisfaction among clients of its common services.⁸ Results from an online client satisfaction survey showed a satisfaction rate of 75% overall. A revised Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) on Operations and Support at Missions was signed by 22 federal departments and agencies and one co-locator.
- Management of locally engaged staff abroad was strengthened by a review of local terms and conditions as well as by establishment of a new formula for annual salary adjustments.
- Significant efforts were undertaken to strengthen security at missions abroad.

Transformation and the New Business Model: In line with the efforts of many of Canada's international allies and partners, DFAIT has been undergoing a transformation aimed at creating a more modern, integrated and flexible foreign and trade ministry, focused on its core mandate. The transformation is driving a renewed focus on services to Canadians, including consular assistance and emergency management, as well as increased flexibility to meet government priorities. Missions have actively engaged in the transformation.

After an in-depth review in 2009-2010 of its business model, DFAIT is moving forward with the implementation in 2010-2011 of a New Business Model that sets out new ways of doing business, modernizes operations and focuses on core business priorities.

Once fully implemented, these changes are expected to result in a strengthened network abroad, greater capacity for responding to emerging issues and unforeseen events, a more productive relationship with DFAIT's federal partners, reduced overhead and a better match between the needs and assets of missions.

⁸ Clients are federal departments and agencies, Crown corporations, provincial governments and foreign governments.

Foreign Affairs and International Trade Canada

As an indicator of success to date with transformation, DFAIT has delivered the results outlined in this document while holding spending growth to one percent, demonstrating the increased flexibility in departmental operations.

Financial Resources: DFAIT's total actual spending for 2009-2010 was $13,594.9 million, including $11,078 million pursuant to the Canada Account managed by Export Development Canada (EDC).⁹ DFAIT's net spending for 2009-2010 amounted to $2,516.9 million, as explained further below.

Financial Resources ($ millions)
2009-2010	Planned Spending	Total Authorities	Actual Spending
Foreign Affairs and International Trade	2,322.5	2,775.8	2,516.9
Export Development Canada (Canada Account)	-119.5	19,414.9	11,078.0
Total for DFAIT	2,203.0	22,190.7	13,594.9

DFAIT's net departmental spending was within the total authorities granted by Parliament and actual spending figures have been measured against funding from both Main and Supplementary Estimates (Total Authorities). In 2009-2010, key initiatives contributing to the variance between DFAIT's planned spending and total authorities included:

- $139.6 million in new funding to address increases in the assessed costs of Canada's membership in international organizations, including assessments for new UN peacekeeping missions;
- $32.6 million in new funding for additional representation at Canada's missions abroad and regional offices in Canada;
- $31.1 million for hosting of the G-8 and G-20 summits; and
- $13.4 million for departmental efforts supporting Canada's initial response to the earthquake in Haiti.

Approximately 49% ($1,233 million) of DFAIT's actual spending related to Canadian diplomacy and advocacy activities in support of Canada's International Agenda. This included $521.8 million in assessed contributions to cover Canada's membership in international organizations such as the UN, UN peacekeeping missions and the World Health Organization. It also included expenditures for key international programs, such as the Global Peace and Security Fund ($127.1 million) and the Global Partnership Program ($130.1 million).

Twelve percent ($301.9 million) of actual spending provided international services (consular, passport and commercial services) to Canadians, including over $55 million to deliver the government's Global Commerce Strategy and more than $23 million for the new Consular Services and Emergency Management Branch.

Approximately 35% ($888.5 million) of actual spending relates to the international platform activities to support DFAIT and its 30 partners at Canada's missions abroad. This amount included $210 million for headquarters-based programs, principally property and information management and technology services, and $449 million in operating costs at missions abroad.

The remaining 4% ($93.5 million) was spent on internal services.

DFAIT's spending increased by an average of 7% a year from 2006-2007 to 2008-2009 (excluding exceptional one-time spending in 2006-2007). However, the growth in departmental expenditures has slowed to the point that 2009-2010 expenditures were only 1% higher than the 2008-2009 level.

According to the Treasury Board of Canada Secretariat (TBS) report entitled Canada's Performance, DFAIT's actual spending over the last three years represents approximately 1% of the total spending of the Government of Canada. DFAIT's actual spending represents less than 9% of the government's spending on international affairs (see Canada's Performance Reports).¹⁰

Conclusion

The accomplishments described in this executive summary are by no means all of the results achieved by DFAIT in 2009-2010, and many more are discussed in the pages that follow. Overall, DFAIT met its numerous and varied commitments identified in the year's Report on Plans and Priorities, within the context of a very challenging financial environment. Meanwhile, DFAIT continues its transformation initiative, making fundamental changes to the way it operates. This initiative is expected to have a positive impact on all DFAIT activities and outputs.

The rest of this report presents information in strict accordance with the guidelines set by TBS (i.e. most of the material is in table format). Section 1 provides an overview of the department: its roles and responsibilities, Program Activity Architecture (PAA), performance summary tables, environmental scan and risk analysis, and expenditure profile.

⁹ EDC is a Crown corporation that provides financing and insurance solutions to help Canadian exporters and investors expand their international business. Under the Export Development Act, the Minister for International Trade (with the concurrence of the Minister of Finance) may authorize EDC to undertake loans from the Canada Account that go beyond its normal risk but that are deemed by the government to be in the national interest. EDC administers the Canada Account. However, because EDC is included in the department's portfolio, DFAIT reports Canada Account transactions in its Estimates. Canada Account transactions have no impact on the department's budget, since these transactions are considered statutory items (i.e. under authorities approved by Parliament through the Export Development Act).

Section 2 is organized according to the PAA (i.e. by strategic outcome and corresponding program activities). Each subsection begins by describing the program activity under discussion and its benefits for Canadians. This is followed by two tables (the program activity's planned and actual resources, both human and financial, and a summary of performance for the year). There is then a brief analysis of the year's performance and a performance highlights table that links back to commitments made in the 2009-2010 Report on Plans and Priorities. Each subsection ends with an explanation of lessons learned over the year.

Section 3 contains financial highlights, financial statements, and a list of tables that can be found on the TBS website. Finally, Section 4 provides information on how to contact DFAIT and its portfolio organizations.

Section 1: Departmental Overview

1.1 Raison d'être and Responsibilities

This Departmental Performance Report provides Canadians with information on DFAIT's achievements in 2009-2010.

DFAIT's specific areas of responsibility include international peace and security, global trade and commerce, diplomatic and consular relations, administration of the Foreign Service and Canada's network of missions abroad, and development of international law and its application to Canada. DFAIT promotes Canada's interests and the security and prosperity of Canadians, and advances the Canadian values of democracy, human rights, the rule of law and environmental stewardship. The department's founding legislation is the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade Act, RSC 1985, c. E-22, which lists its legislated responsibilities (see Our Mandate).¹¹

The department provides ongoing benefits to Canadians as follows:

- It ensures that the Government of Canada speaks and acts in a unified and cohesive manner with respect to the formulation and implementation of foreign and trade policies and programs, by leading a government-wide approach to these efforts, including response to crises. Working with partner departments, DFAIT is the principal source of information, intelligence and advice for the Government of Canada on international issues, conditions and trends.
- It concentrates its human and financial resources on its core business (i.e. peace and security, trade and investment, international law and human rights) in order to advance Canada's global agenda related to these issues as effectively as possible, while making full use of its diplomatic and geographic expertise worldwide.
- It generates international opportunities for Canadian business by promoting international trade and commerce through initiatives such as negotiation of agreements to open and/or expand markets, facilitation of two-way trade and investment, and encouragement of innovation by means of international partnerships for science and technology commercialization.
- It provides Canadians with international commercial, consular and passport services as well as timely and practical information on international issues and travel.
- It manages Canada's network of 173 missions worldwide (i.e. the Government of Canada's international platform) from a government-wide perspective, thereby enabling not just its own global operations but also those of its partners operating at missions abroad. Canada's missions abroad integrate and coordinate the government's international activities.
- Mission activities include advocating Canadian policies and perspectives internationally; building and maintaining relationships to raise Canada's profile and advocate Canadian objectives; interpreting economic, social and political trends and information in terms of what they mean to Canada and Canadians; managing Canada's international business development, including promotion of exports, attraction of investment and positioning of Canada as a dynamic innovation partner; providing consular and passport services; and supplying infrastructure and services to enable the international operations of federal and other partners working at missions abroad.
- It serves the foreign diplomatic community accredited to Canada and fulfills protocol duties for all outgoing state visits by the Governor General, the Prime Minister and DFAIT portfolio ministers as well as for incoming official visits by foreign dignitaries (heads of state and heads of government). At present, there are over 8,000 foreign representatives and accredited members of their families in Canada.

1.2 Strategic Outcomes and Program Activity Architecture

DFAIT's Program Activity Architecture clearly identifies the department's strategic direction by listing its complementary strategic outcomes (i.e. the long-term, enduring benefits to Canadians that the department strives to achieve). DFAIT has three strategic outcomes. First, Canada's International Agenda refers to the practice of Canadian advocacy and diplomacy. Second, International Services for Canadians denotes DFAIT's commercial, consular and passport services to Canadians. Third, Canada's International Platform refers to the department's management of missions abroad, on behalf of the Government of Canada. Together, the strategic outcomes reflect the department's leadership role in formulating, coordinating and carrying out the federal government's foreign and trade policies and programs. The department's strategic outcomes provide the foundation for all its activities.

Cascading in a logical manner from the three strategic outcomes in the PAA are the department's seven supporting program activities.

- In carrying out International Policy Advice and Integration, the department provides strategic direction, intelligence and advice on foreign policy and economic issues; researches and analyzes foreign and trade policy issues, drawing on input from across the department as well as from federal partners; develops policies and programs to address those issues; and ensures coherence, integration and coordination of foreign and trade policies and programs across government.
- In undertaking Diplomacy and Advocacy, DFAIT engages Canadian stakeholders and partners as well as foreign governments and international players; raises awareness and understanding of Canada's policies, interests and values as they pertain to the government's international agenda; and delivers programs on Canada's behalf to address specific international issues.

- In relation to International Commerce, the department works to expand the participation of Canadian business in world markets and to increase the interaction of Canadian entrepreneurs with global business partners, and promotes Canada as a competitive location and partner for investment, innovation and value-added production.
- With respect to Consular Services, DFAIT supplies Canadians with information and advice on safe travel to foreign countries, and provides guidance and support in cases of personal difficulty or during times of crisis.
- Passport Canada—a special operating agency—focuses on management and delivery of passport services. It is responsible for the issuance, revocation, refusal, recovery and use of Canadian passports.
- With respect to Canada's International Platform: Support at Headquarters, the department manages and delivers common services to federal and other partners with representation at Canada's missions abroad.
- With regard to Canada's International Platform: Support at Missions Abroad, DFAIT ensures that common services are in place at missions and coordinates them on site to support the international operations of the entire Government of Canada as well as the operations of federal and other partners with representation at the missions.

Finally, Internal Services are activities that make possible all of the department's operations. Without Internal Services, the department could not carry out its mandated functions or advance its strategic outcomes. Because Internal Services are included in the department's Program Activity Architecture, they have been presented as a separate program activity since the 2008-2009 Departmental Performance Report. Treasury Board of Canada Secretariat divides Internal Services into three broad categories: governance and management support, resource management services, and asset management.

The international agenda is shaped to Canada's benefit and advantage in accordance with Canadian interests and values.	Canadians are satisfied with commercial, consular and passport services.	The Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade maintains a mission network of infrastructure and services to enable the Government of Canada to achieve its international priorities.

1.3 Summary of Performance

The summary presents financial and human resources information for the period covered by this report. It also provides a breakdown of spending by program activity and shows how each program activity aligns with overall Government of Canada outcomes. The table below presents the planned and actual figures.

1.3.1 Total Financial and Human Resources Table

2009-2010 Financial Resources ($ millions)			2009-2010 Human Resources (FTEs)
Planned Spending	Total Authorities	Actual Spending	Planned	Actual	Difference
2,203.0	22,190.7	13,594.9	13,624	12,986	-638

The number of total actual FTEs (12,986) is distributed among the program activities as follows: International Policy Advice and Integration 6%, Diplomacy and Advocacy 12%, International Commerce 10%, Consular Affairs 4%, Passport Canada 20%, Canada's International Platform: Support at Headquarters 7%, Canada's International Platform: Support at Missions Abroad 32% and Internal Services 9%.¹² The International Platform: Support at Missions Abroad program activity includes the majority of locally engaged staff (LES), including all LES dedicated to delivering the programs of partner departments.

The 5% variance observed between the actual (12,986) and planned FTEs (13,624) anticipated in the department's Report on Plans and Priorities is attributable to a number of factors, including a reduced level of new DFAIT and partner department overseas positions; and staffing delays at headquarters.

Air transport agreements were signed with the European Union, Japan, South Africa, Cuba, Morocco, Ethiopia, Tunisia, and El Salvador. Deliver programming for the 2010 Winter Games: During the Olympics, DFAIT undertook intensive public diplomacy and investor outreach, including business round tables and the campaign "2010 Reasons to Do Business in Canada." Advance Canadian interests in the Doha Round of the World Trade Organization: DFAIT continued to represent Canada's interests in the Doha Round and prepared strategies to manage anticipated discussions at the G-8 and G-20 summits regarding these negotiations. Prepare for the 2010 G-8 Summit: DFAIT undertook intensive planning and coordination in preparation for the G-8 and G-20 summits, set the agenda for Canada's G-8 and G-20 presidencies, and hosted the G-8 Foreign Ministers' Meeting in Gatineau, Quebec. Advance Canada's interests in the G-20: The department generated support for the Framework for Strong, Sustainable, and Balanced Growth, including fiscal consolidation targets, plus international acceptance of financial sector regulatory reform, through the G-20 Sherpa negotiations.	worldwide. Areas for improvement included an enhanced leveraging of external trade policy expertise to assist in the development of innovative policy ideas in various areas of international trade policy (universities/academies; think tanks, research institutes); and the building of domestic capacity in investment attraction as a counterweight to the worldwide slowdown in trade and investment.
2) United States and the hemisphere (the Americas)	Previously committed to	Met all Implement a comprehensive strategy for Canada-United States relations on such issues as the global economy and trade relations, peace and security, the border, energy and climate change, Afghanistan and the Arctic: Building on a major investment in issue analysis and related policy development prompted by the 2008 presidential election in the United States and aimed at establishing the most productive possible relationship for Canada with the incoming administration, DFAIT was successful in reorienting the bilateral relationship to encompass a more strategic and forward-looking whole-of-government agenda led by the Prime Minister and with the full engagement of Ministers. Sustained engagement between leaders and at the ministerial level helped to advance the common agenda and to defend and advance Canadian interests. Over the course of 2009-2010, DFAIT supported a bilateral visit to Washington by the Prime Minister as well as 35 ministerial visits. Among important achievements during the period were the successful conclusion of negotiations toward the Canada-U.S. Agreement on Government Procurement, which was related to the "Buy American" provisions of the U.S. stimulus legislation; the launch of a Canada-U.S. Clean Energy Dialogue and the launch of negotiations to amend the Great Lakes Water Quality Agreement; the establishment of a twice-yearly ministerial dialogue on border management, cooperation in the restructuring of the automotive sector; and an unprecedented level of civil and military cooperation in and on Afghanistan. Haiti reconstruction was another important area of cooperation between the two countries. DFAIT also played a leading role in support of the Prime Minister's participation in two important summits hosted by President Obama: the G-20 meeting in Pittsburgh in September 2009 and the Nuclear Security Summit in Washington in April 2010. Strengthen relations with Mexico and elsewhere in the hemisphere through implementation of bilateral and multilateral programs and policies that promote greater prosperity (FTAs, air agreements, S&T accords): See information on FTAs and other agreements under the first operational priority above. The department advanced relations with Brazil, where Canada opened a new office to forge greater economic relations, and re-established the Joint Economic and Trade Council consultations after a 10-year hiatus, with a mandate to facilitate trade and promote investment opportunities. Long-term linkages were expanded through new student mobility agreements and 500 new scholarships for study and research. Enhance security (policing and judicial capacity building): Bilateral consultations with Mexico increased cooperation related to police training and capacity building, justice sector reform, and counter-narcotics programs and information sharing. Similar assistance was provided to other countries in the region through the new Anti-Crime Capacity Building Fund which distributed more than $7 million to enhance the capacity of governments in the Americas to combat transnational crime. Regional collaboration and whole-of-government approaches were strengthened through sharing of best practices with the launch of the Regional Office for Peace and Security in Panama. Promote democratic practices (accountable and transparent governance, respect for human rights and the rule of law): Canada facilitated greater regional collaboration and strengthened whole-of-government policies and best practices in the area of democracy through the launch of the Andean Unit for Democratic Governance. Canada played a pivotal role in the Organization of American States (OAS) mediation mission resulting from the coup d'état in Honduras as well as the subsequent contributions to the Truth and Reconciliation Commission. Canada also led on the Cuba and Summit resolutions at the OAS General Assembly and promoted the OAS Democratic Charter, particularly in the context of freedom of speech in Venezuela and corporate social responsibility. A significant achievement was the launch at the G-8 Foreign Ministers' Meeting in Gatineau of the Afghanistan-Pakistan Border Region Prosperity Initiative, in collaboration with the two countries' governments, the World Bank and the Asian Development Bank. Canada facilitated the Dubai Process as the prime mechanism for Afghanistan-Pakistan border management. The department also supported implementation of initiatives by the Stabilization and Reconstruction Task Force (START) and the Counter-Terrorism Capacity Building Program aligned with DFAIT-led priorities of promoting rule of law, good governance, border management and reconciliation.	SO 1 This priority advances Canada's international agenda by promoting peace, democracy and security in a historically volatile region. A new Memorandum of Understanding on Operations and Support at Missions was approved by all of DFAIT's partners with operations abroad. DFAIT has opened five regional offices since 2008, and has established four regional policy and program centres. Improve services to Canadians: DFAIT reorganized consular activities to better meet evolving emergency management needs, established a robust contingency planning function, created the first of three planned regional consular and emergency support offices staffed with experienced management consular officers, designed a training program for all staff involved in emergency management, supported the renewal of the Management Consular Officer stream, and increased training for consular staff on how to deal with complex issues and events abroad. Passport Canada simplified the passport renewal process, increased passport printing capacity, expanded the number of points of service, instituted ongoing monitoring and tracking to forecast demand fluctuations, and developed a contingency plan to increase operational capacity and respond more effectively to spikes in demand. The Trade Commissioner Service (TCS) prepared 230 market sector reports to provide Canadian businesses with up-to-date insight into international market opportunities. Expansion of the TCS domestic footprint (28 new FTEs and six satellite offices) made an important contribution to departmental performance. Focus on core business: The department is focused on its core mandate of trade and investment, international peace and security, international law and human rights, and geographic expertise. DFAIT strengthened its policy capacity through various measures, including adoption of an open policy-development model and extensive e-collaboration on policy issues. Strengthen accountability: DFAIT continued implementation of the CFO Model¹⁶ to strengthen financial administration and strengthened oversight and accountability by reporting on evaluation and mission inspection recommendations to the Departmental Evaluation Committee and Departmental Audit Committee. Renew human resources: DFAIT renewed its human resources through ongoing officer recruitment, drawing on a pool of qualified candidates from the 2008 post-secondary collective recruitment exercise.¹⁷ To increase the foreign-language capacity of DFAIT staff posted abroad, the Canadian Foreign Service Institute reinvested in related training. To strengthen the integrity of human resources data, DFAIT established a "super user" network to ensure effective communication across the HR function. 1.4 Working Context and Risk Analysis

DFAIT's global operations include work in places and circumstances that can be highly complex, dangerous and difficult. At the same time, its work can be affected by domestic developments. Therefore, DFAIT must exercise clear leadership and maintain a highly flexible organization, not only to be able to deliver results on a day-to-day basis, but also to be able to respond quickly and effectively to new events and issues as they arise.

Risk management is a critical component of DFAIT corporate and business planning and performance management. Risk refers to the effect of uncertainty on objectives. It is the expression of the likelihood and impact of an event with the potential to affect the achievement of an organization's objectives. DFAIT's Corporate Risk Profile was updated in 2009-2010, and an Integrated Risk Management Policy has been drafted. Once finalized, it will be applied to all departmental activities and operations.

DFAIT addresses possible exposure to risks by identifying key potential events or circumstances and estimating the likelihood and impact on departmental strategic outcomes. Using risk analysis, the department develops mitigation strategies aimed at addressing potential challenges and seizing possible opportunities. What follows is a summary of the key factors and strategic risks affecting DFAIT's operations, along with the corresponding mitigation strategies.

Highly volatile economic and political conditions at home and abroad: While Canada's economic and fiscal position has remained relatively positive compared with many other countries, Canada continues to be affected by volatility in world stock markets; global discussions on adjustments to fiscal architecture, including a proposed bank tax; protectionism prompted by domestic concerns about unemployment; and the need for constrained public spending following government stimulus. The department demonstrated considerable capacity to manage these risks, for example in its success in negotiating an agreement with the United States on the "Buy American" provisions of the U.S. stimulus legislation, and its ability to rapidly expand summit preparations following the September 2009 announcement that Canada would host the G-20 Summit in addition to the G-8 Summit in June 2010.

Challenges in providing services to Canadian citizens abroad and protection of Government of Canada personnel, interests and assets: In the past year, the most significant unforeseen international event that affected Canadians and their interests has been the earthquake in Haiti. Canada's response, coordinated by DFAIT, was partly based on lessons learned from the 2004 Asian tsunami, which resulted in greater use of START (Stabilization and Reconstruction Task Force), increased interdepartmental consultation on Canada's emergency response abroad, and expanded capacity at DFAIT to handle such events.

Challenges related to external and internal communications: Technological changes and organizational dispersion can affect DFAIT communications. However, the department made major progress in 2009-2010 to address these issues, through measures such as consolidation of all mission websites onto one platform (Interwoven) and greater use of new technologies (e.g. video-conferencing, webinars and e-networking).

Competition for resources to support departmental priorities and change management: In 2009-2010, DFAIT continued to adjust to government-wide fiscal restraint, amidst intense pressure on resources associated with Canada's hosting of the Olympics, G-8 Foreign Ministers' Meeting and G-20 within the span of one year. It is worth noting that DFAIT carries out an extremely diverse mandate and set of activities using only 1% of total government spending.

Existing and evolving challenges with human resources, financial and information management systems for decision making and reporting:

DFAIT's global operations put extensive demands on a host of technological applications. In 2009-2010, the department completed renewal of its classified information system (SIGNET-C5) to enhance productivity and security. To improve management and sharing of information, DFAIT opened a secondary data centre, which will ensure the reliability of information management and technology services for the department and its partners at missions abroad. In addition, the department tripled the capacity for remote access to information technology services and increased the number of applications available with the service. DFAIT also supports the standardization of human resources (HR) systems throughout the Government of Canada. The department implemented two pay modules in 2010 and is actively involved in the Human Resources Management System common configuration project aligned with Government of Canada priorities.

Erosion of human and knowledge capital: As a knowledge-based organization that needs highly skilled employees, DFAIT continues to face severe competition in attracting and retaining personnel in key shortage areas. In 2009-2010 the department increased its foreign-language capacity of staff posted abroad. In addition, it established a "super user" function to ensure its data integrity.

Over the course of the last year, an Integrated Risk Management Policy has been developed to strengthen the management of risk across the department, specify accountabilities for key risk management activities, and ensure that the workplace has the capacities and tools to be innovative. The department's Corporate Risk Profile (CRP) has been updated based on comprehensive input from all bureaus and branches and has been approved by senior management. At the same time, risks and mitigation strategies have been embedded in the 2010-2011 Integrated Corporate Business Plan. The top six risks described in the CRP have been linked to DFAIT's strategic outcomes and Program Activity Architecture. Five of the six risks link to all three of the department's strategic outcomes, while the first risk listed above applies primarily to Strategic Outcomes 1 and 2. (See the 2010-2011 Report on Plans and Priorities for more detailed information.)¹⁸

1.5 Expenditure Profile

DFAIT's total actual spending for 2009-2010 amounted to $13,594.9 million, including $11,078 million pertaining to the Export Development Canada (EDC) Canada Account. The department's net actual spending amounted to $2,516.9 million in 2009-2010, against total authorities of $2,775.8 million.

¹⁸ <http://www.tbs-sct.gc.ca/rpp/2010-2011/inst/ext/ext00-eng.asp>

1.5.1 Departmental Spending Graph

DFAIT's actual spending increased by an average of 7% each year between 2006-2007 and 2008-2009, excluding the 2006-2007 exceptional one-time authorities and spending related to the Softwood Lumber Products Export Charge Act, 2006 ($502 million) and debt forgiveness for six developing countries ($126.9 million). However, growth stabilized during 2009-2010 to a 1% increase over 2008-2009.

Typically there is some variance between planned spending in the Report on Plans and Priorities and actual spending each year due to unforeseen initiatives that are funded through Supplementary Estimates. For 2009-2010, the difference between DFAIT's spending and total authorities can be explained by factors such as:¹⁹

- $139.6 million in new funding to address increases in the assessed costs of Canada's membership in international organizations, including assessments for new UN peacekeeping missions (Somalia, Central African Republic and Chad);
- $32.6 million in new funding for additional representation at Canada's missions abroad and regional offices in Canada;
- $31.1 million for hosting of the G-8 and G-20 summits;
- $18.3 million for the acquisition and development of permanent staff quarters and an embassy in Afghanistan;
- $14.5 million for the acquisition of land and staff housing units in Pakistan; and
- $13.4 million to support Canada's initial response to the January 2010 earthquake in Haiti.

DFAIT continues to face budgetary constraints, like other federal departments and agencies. It has made cumulative contributions to government-wide reallocation exercises of over $413 million since 2005-2006, including nearly $160 million in 2009-2010, thus doing its part to address a very challenging financial environment.

1.5.2 Canada's Economic Action Plan—Canada Account

In the context of Canada's Economic Action Plan, a total of $14.5 billion was committed by the governments of Canada and Ontario in support of the restructuring and renewal of the automotive industry in Canada.

In 2009-2010, a total of $13.7 billion was disbursed ($2.9 billion in support of Chrysler Canada and $10.8 billion in support of General Motors of Canada). One third of this support was provided by Ontario and two thirds by Canada, via the Canada Account.

Of the total actual spending of $11.078 billion from the Canada Account, $10,767 billion was related to stimulus measures in Canada's Economic Action Plan and the remaining $310.9 million was for other approved transactions. The actual spending includes the recorded expense in the Canada Account that resulted from the transfer of shares to the Canada Development Investment Corporation, loans that are repayable in 2010-2011 by Chrysler Canada and General Motors of Canada, as well as professional fees and foreign exchange losses.

On July 10, 2009, the Government of Canada agreed to exchange approximately $9.753 billion of General Motors' outstanding receivable into shares. These shares are held by the Canada Development Investment Corporation. At the exchange date, the fair value of the preferred and common shares was estimated to be $3.149 billion. An amount of $6.604 billion, representing the difference between the face value of the loans and the fair value of the equity, has been recorded as an expense in the Canada Account for 2009-2010.

Section 2: Analysis of Program Activities by Strategic Outcome

2.1 Strategic Outcome 1: Canada's International Agenda

Description: Strategic Outcome 1 ensures that the international agenda is shaped to Canada's benefit and advantage in accordance with Canadian interests and values. It involves developing and implementing foreign affairs and international trade policies and programs to achieve Canada's broader international goals. This strategic outcome is supported by two program activities: International Policy Advice and Integration, and Diplomacy and Advocacy.

2.1.1 Program Activity 1: International Policy Advice and Integration

Description: This program activity provides strategic direction, intelligence and advice, including integration and coordination of Canada's foreign and international economic policies. It enables the department to plan and coordinate its international activities with a view to integrating Canada's foreign and international economic policies.

Benefits for Canadians: Through this program activity, the department develops policies and programs that influence the international agenda to reflect Canadian interests and values and foster the security and prosperity of Canadians. This program activity also ensures government-wide coordination and coherence of Canadian foreign and international trade policies and provides the government with the information, analysis and intelligence it needs to make informed decisions.

The Government of Canada has the information, intelligence and advice it needs to make informed decisions on foreign and international economic policies, programs and priorities.		Level of satisfaction of the government with the information, intelligence and advice. Target: significant level of satisfaction demonstrated by approval and use of advice.		Met all: Approval and use of advice (notably in relation to ongoing implementation of the Global Commerce Strategy, in multilateral forums such as the G-8 and the UN, and in the management of Canada's relations with the United States) demonstrated a significant level of satisfaction.
		Management Accountability Framework (MAF) assessment: Area of Management (AoM) 4 (Effectiveness of Extra-Organizational Contribution) and 5 (Quality of Analysis in Treasury Board Submissions). Target: MAF assessment results are "acceptable" or higher.		Mostly met: AoM 4: Acceptable (MAF VI); AoM 5: Opportunity for Improvement (MAF VII).
		Use of consultation mechanisms with stakeholders. Target: use of consultations in all major policy and program initiatives.		Met all: Stakeholder consultations were used in all major policy and programming initiatives.

Performance Analysis: This program activity, which supports the department's first strategic outcome (Canada's International Agenda), encompasses three elements (in italics below). Although much of the work in 2009-2010 focused on the first two elements, the program activity did meet all of its stated commitments.

Planning, integration and coordination of policy on international issues: DFAIT provided planning and coordination to prepare Canada's policy priorities for the G-8 and G-20 summits, to set the agenda for Canada's G-8 presidency, and to host the G-8 Foreign Ministers' Meeting in Gatineau, Quebec. DFAIT also provided assistance to Trinidad and Tobago in hosting the fifth Summit of the Americas. Meanwhile, the U.S. presidential election prompted a major investment in issue analysis and related policy development with a view to establishing the most constructive possible relationship for Canada with the new Obama administration.

DFAIT also undertook rigorous policy work related to trade policy and market access issues, including new or ongoing negotiations of free trade and other agreements, such as the pursuit of a Canada-U.S. agreement on government procurement.

Elsewhere in the Americas, DFAIT led the government's response to the January 2010 earthquake in Haiti, hosted the Ministerial Preparatory Conference on Haiti in Montreal on January 25, 2010, and worked closely with federal partners to ensure a leadership role for Canada at the Haiti Reconstruction Conference chaired by the UN in March 2010, which raised more than $5 billion for reconstruction assistance over the next two years.

On Afghanistan, DFAIT provided whole-of-government leadership and coordination of Canada's Afghan mission. A significant achievement was the agreement at the G-8 Foreign Ministers' Meeting on the Afghanistan-Pakistan Border Region Prosperity Initiative, reached in collaboration with the two countries' governments, the World Bank and the Asian Development Bank.

Policy and program development: DFAIT advanced coordination of Canada-U.S. policy on issues of shared concern by organizing a visit to Washington, D.C., for the Deputy Ministers' Committee on Global Trends, Foreign Affairs and Defence (GTFAD). As co-chair of GTFAD, DFAIT coordinated interdepartmental research and analysis to ensure that committee members were fully informed and engaged.

DFAIT also refined management processes governing the International Assistance Envelope, developed an Arctic Foreign Policy (released in August 2010), hosted an Arctic Ocean Ministerial Meeting in March 2010 and established regional policy centres focused on peace and security (in Panama City), democratic governance (in Lima) and the Arctic (in Oslo).

Regarding program development, the department established the Anti-Crime Capacity Building Program, launched the Investment Cooperation Program (INC) and established a new scholarship initiative for Haiti to provide continuing academic studies to Haitian students as that country continues to recover from the January 2010 earthquake.

Political/economic information and analysis: The program activity advised senior management and the government as a whole on foreign policy and international trade issues in order to inform policy development and decision making.

Increase the availability and timeliness of information on international security and stability issues.	Degree of expansion of Global Security Reporting Program (GSRP).	Met all: The GSRP, designed to collect, evaluate and disseminate overseas security-related information, expanded to 20 officers located in Africa, the Middle East, Europe, Asia and the Americas, who delivered about 800 timely reports on international security and stability issues, which received positive feedback from other government departments and foreign partners.

Lessons Learned: Given the volatile international environment and the growing number of players in foreign and trade policy worldwide, it is imperative that DFAIT maintain robust policy networks, closely engaging Canadian and international partners on issues of shared interest, and that it be able to respond rapidly. Furthermore, ongoing monitoring and analysis of international as well as domestic trends and issues is essential to DFAIT’s policy advice, development and coordination. In so doing, DFAIT will continue to maximize input from Canada’s missions abroad.

DFAIT’s latest Management Accountability Framework assessment made clear the need for the department to improve the quality and timeliness of its Treasury Board submissions.

2.1.2 Program Activity 2: Diplomacy and Advocacy

Description: This program activity engages and influences international players and delivers international programs and diplomacy. It allows Canada to implement its international policies to foreign audiences inside and outside Canada and thus fulfill the mandated roles and responsibilities that are associated with the diplomatic work of a foreign and international trade ministry.

Benefits for Canadians: Diplomacy and Advocacy is the mechanism that the department uses to represent Canadians on the international stage in order to defend and advocate Canada’s diplomatic and economic interests and project Canadian values abroad. Strategic engagement of the public and other stakeholders helps to ensure that Canada’s foreign policy is aligned with the interests and values of Canadians.

Canada's diplomatic efforts and programs engage and influence international players to protect and build support for Canadian interests and values.		Reflection of Canadian foreign and international economic policy priorities in bilateral and multilateral actions, decisions, declarations and agreements. Target: significant level of support for Canadian positions in the international community.		Met all: Canadian positions were reflected in the international response to the Haiti earthquake, in the Copenhagen Accord, at the G-8 Foreign Ministers' Meeting, at the UN and in various trade negotiations and agreements as directed under the Global Commerce Strategy.
		Effectiveness of programs in achieving results and aligning with priorities. Target: program effectiveness.		Met all: All planned projects were completed on or ahead of schedule.

Performance Analysis: This program activity, which supports DFAIT's first strategic outcome (Canada's International Agenda), is made up of the following three elements (in italics).

Diplomacy inside Canada: DFAIT managed visits by 42 foreign dignitaries to Canada. It also organized events and briefings for the foreign diplomatic community, including the Northern Tour in support of Canada's Northern Strategy and a diplomatic forum on the Vancouver 2010 Winter Games. The department relied on extensive consultations with federal partners, the provinces and territories, and other stakeholders on a range of issues, including negotiation of numerous trade and other agreements as well as Canada's response to the earthquakes in Haiti and Chile, in order to better inform Canada's international trade and political agenda.

Diplomacy outside Canada: DFAIT managed the Governor General's visits to 10 countries and the Prime Minister's visits to 16 nations. To broaden awareness of Canadian interests and engagement in global affairs, the department held 87 public diplomacy events worldwide in 2009-2010. DFAIT continued its implementation of the government's Global Commerce Strategy by successfully negotiating numerous free trade and other agreements with key countries, while significantly advancing ongoing negotiations with other nations. This work focused on emerging markets, such as China, India and Brazil, but also included the European Union, partners in the Americas and many other countries worldwide. The purpose of the Global Commerce Strategy is to boost Canadian commercial engagement in global value chains, secure competitive terms of access to global markets and networks for Canadian businesses, increase foreign direct investment in Canada and Canadian direct investment around the world, and forge stronger linkages between Canada's science and technology community and global innovation networks.

DFAIT's diplomatic and advocacy work delivered results at key events hosted by Canada, including the G-8, the G-20, and the Ministerial Preparatory Conference on the post-earthquake situation in Haiti. The department actively worked on Canada's campaign for a seat on the UN Security Council in 2011-2012. Also at the UN, Canada led the annual UN General Assembly resolution on the human rights situation in Iran. DFAIT conducted a successful campaign (over 370 outcalls and events) in the United States to advance Canadian interests with regard to the "Buy American" provisions in the U.S. Recovery and Reinvestment Act. With regard to Canada's Arctic policy, DFAIT carried out public diplomacy activities at missions abroad and at the Canadian International Centre for the Arctic Region in Oslo. Canada also hosted the Arctic Ocean Foreign Ministers' Meeting in March 2010, where the five Arctic Ocean coastal states met to discuss issues of common interest such as continental shelf delineation and potential public safety challenges. The department continued to advance Canada's priorities in Afghanistan, leading at the G-8 Foreign Ministers' Meeting, which launched the Afghanistan-Pakistan Border Region Prosperity Initiative.

International operations and programs: DFAIT'S programs are an important policy tool to advance Canada's priorities and strategic objectives and protect Canadians. This program activity pursued the following initiatives:

- Canada's international memberships: Canada is a fully engaged member of the world's most important and influential multilateral organizations, keenly aware of the importance of active global citizenship to Canadians. For instance, Canada is a top-seven contributor to the regular UN budget and a top-10 financial contributor to UN peacekeeping operations.
- Education/youth programs: Canada and the United States reached an agreement to establish a binational educational exchange foundation (the Canada-U.S. Fulbright Program), ensuring continued high-level bilateral academic exchange. The Canada-U.S. Fulbright Program is supported by DFAIT, the U.S. State Department, and several public and private sector partners.
- START (Stabilization and Reconstruction Task Force): The purpose of START is to enhance the Government of Canada's capacity for international crisis response. START programming promotes the rule of law, good governance, border management and reconciliation in Afghanistan, Sudan and Haiti, closely collaborating with a network of federal and G-8 partners, the United Nations, and regional organizations such as the European Union, the African Union and NATO. Start's Global Peace and Security Fund (GPSF) supported over 250 projects worth over $100 million in these countries.

- Global Partnership Program: The Global Partnership Program, a G-8 initiative, committed $119.9 million to reduce threats posed by weapons and materials of mass destruction in Russia and countries of the former Soviet Union. Collaboration with other donors, including the United States, the United Kingdom and the Republic of Korea, resulted in a number of successful projects and established the basis for future cooperation.
- Counter-Terrorism Capacity Building Program: $11 million in assistance enhanced the capacity of key beneficiary states, government entities and international organizations to prevent and respond to threats posed by terrorist activity in a manner consistent with international counterterrorism and human rights obligations, norms and standards. Programming was directed at Canada's geographic priorities and key counterterrorism challenges, including challenges related to transportation, border security and financing of terrorism. Because counterterrorism requires international cooperation and coordination, Canada works to develop legal instruments, best practices and international standards in various multilateral groups, including the United Nations, NATO and the Organization of American States.
- Anti-Crime Capacity Building Program: More than $7 million increased the capacity of states in the Americas to combat corruption and transnational crime. Canada works on transnational and emerging crime issues with a number of key groups, including the UN, the OAS and the G-8. As well, $15 million in contributions to the UN Office on Drugs and Crime helped build its capacity to effectively fulfill its mandate in the fight against drugs and crime and fund global projects, including in Afghanistan.
- Investment Cooperation Program (INC): This program seeks to encourage and support responsible and sustainable engagement by the Canadian private sector in developing countries by sharing certain costs associated with planning and/or enhancing investments in private business or public infrastructure projects.

Effectively manage public diplomacy policy and initiatives with respect to international affairs.	Number of public diplomacy events.	Mostly met: Organized 87 public diplomacy events worldwide in 2009-2010: 43 in Europe (49%), 20 in the United States (23%), 20 in Asia Pacific (23%) and four in the Middle East (5%). The 2009 Canada-United Kingdom Colloquium met expectations. This interdisciplinary event provided a forum for consideration of policy options for decision makers in response to the international financial crisis. Expanded the advocacy operation in India and further developed initiatives in Beijing to advocate in priority areas for Canadian foreign policy, including human rights, the Arctic and health concerns.

Lessons Learned: Continued diplomatic advocacy on Canadian priorities is critical, given the rapidly changing political and security landscape and the constant introduction of new actors. On the domestic front, whole-of-government consultation is critical to policy development.

Canada's response to the earthquake in Haiti revealed the need for urgent attention to address surge capacity and deployment needs in dealing with international crises.

Advancement of Canadian interests in the United States with respect to the "Buy American" provisions was particularly complex during the economic downturn, given U.S. concerns about protecting American jobs. This experience demonstrated the importance of ensuring that U.S. decision makers understand that eight million U.S. jobs depend on Canada, and that actions that impede trade have consequences on both sides of the border.

Increasing demand for trade negotiations and dispute settlement has led to a more resource-efficient approach to activities, including smaller delegations to trade negotiations abroad, increased use of video-conferencing and other technologies, and transfer of functions from headquarters to staff at missions abroad.

2.2 Strategic Outcome 2: International Services for Canadians

Description: Strategic Outcome 2 ensures that Canadians are provided and satisfied with commercial, consular and passport services. This strategic outcome is supported by three program activities: International Commerce, Consular Affairs and Passport Canada.

2.2.1 Program Activity 3: International Commerce

Description: This program activity works to expand the participation of Canadian business in world markets and increase its interaction with global business partners, while promoting Canada as a competitive location and partner for investment, innovation and value-added production.

Benefits for Canadians: The economic prosperity of Canadians increases when international commercial engagement and access improves and when Canadian firms raise their visibility in foreign markets. Canada is a trade-dependent nation, with goods exports in 2009 of approximately $369.5 billion and service exports of $67.1 billion. There are opportunities for these figures to grow, particularly in emerging markets such as Brazil, Russia, India and China, and exports will constitute an important part of Canada's recovery from the global financial crisis.

Services provided by Canada's trade commissioners play a crucial role in helping Canadian businesses minimize risk and achieve their international objectives. Canadians benefit from DFAIT's International Commerce activities in the following ways:

- The identification and communication of business opportunities helps Canadian firms achieve greater success in international markets and enables Canada's key business sectors to be more competitive.
- Promotion of foreign investment brings capital, jobs and new technologies to Canada.
- Promoting the use of Canada's Pacific Gateway to the world's largest shippers helps to establish Canada's leadership in the movement of goods, services and people between Asia and North America, attracts foreign investment, and leads to stronger trade ties both within North America and with Asia.
- The development of export and import control policies and the administration of quotas and permits protect Canada's economic interests as well as the strategic interests of Canada and its allies.

An overall client satisfaction rate of 66%, while good, leaves some room for improvement. The Export and Import Controls Bureau obtained permission from the departmental public opinion authority to undertake a survey of stakeholders and initiated efforts toward implementation.

Performance Analysis: This program activity, which supports the department's third strategic outcome (International Commerce), encompasses three elements (in italics below).

International business services network: There was rising demand for TCS services throughout 2009-2010. Total service transactions increased by 14% over the previous year and the number of Canadian clients served reached 13,252, a 11% increase. The expansion of the TCS domestic footprint by the addition of six satellite offices and 28 positions made an important contribution to organizational capacity. The regional offices acquired 1,676 new TCS clients, an increase of 46% from the previous fiscal year, and a total of 770 more clients were presented with business opportunities abroad.

A study conducted by DFAIT's Office of the Chief Economist in collaboration with Professor Johannes Van Biesebroeck of the University of Toronto concluded that exporting companies served by the Trade Commissioner Service were more successful than comparable exporters who worked on their own. The study found that exporters who received TCS assistance had an 18% higher average export value than non-clients and they exported to one-third more markets overseas. This multi-year study of trade in goods found that for every dollar invested in TCS services, $27 is generated in increased exports.

The Trade Commissioner Service (TCS) prepared 230 market sector reports to provide Canadian businesses with up-to-date insight into international market opportunities. The TCS maintains an online inventory of 485 market sector profiles, which present sector-based business opportunities in key markets abroad. These reports were downloaded approximately 50,000 times and more than 4,500 new registrants signed up for this service during the year.

The department organized three Minister-led trade missions in 2009-2010 involving Canadian business delegations to Beijing, Shenyang, Chengdu and Shanghai in China; to Moscow and Sochi in Russia; as well as to Bangkok, Thailand. These destinations were chosen based on priority markets and sectors.

As part of its efforts to integrate business lines and service delivery, the TCS developed a range of products—including a guide for small and medium-sized enterprises, a specialized portal to the department's website and 50 reports on multinational enterprises—intended to assist companies in selling into global value chains. Also, the department continued to facilitate the activities of Canadian companies wishing to expand abroad through investment. The TCS developed investment guides for China, Argentina and Turkey and two guides for the Philippines (an investment guide and the investment component of a science and technology guide).

Finally, several technological improvements were made to meet clients' needs. For example, access to international business related information from over 30 federal organizations is now available via a single web portal containing information on contribution programs, webinars and global value chains.

Investment, innovation and sectors: In 2009-2010, DFAIT referred 258 potential foreign investors to its domestic partners—primarily provinces, territories and municipalities—and assisted in arranging 155 exploratory company visits to Canada. DFAIT's investment network facilitated 106 foreign greenfield and expansion investments in Canada, compared to 97 foreign investments reported the previous year, despite a 10% decrease in worldwide investment in 2009.

International science and technology partnering activities in 2009-2010 resulted in six new R&D initiatives with China worth a total of $6.9 million; four new R&D initiatives with India worth $6.7 million; and the launch in July 2009 of a trilateral program among Canada, China and Israel for collaborative R&D of new technologies for agriculture and related fields. Three Canada-Brazil Calls for Proposals were launched to stimulate partnerships for collaborative research, development and commercialization of new technologies. These resulted in three full R&D partnerships and three separate partnership-development activities that will lead to future collaboration between Brazilian and Canadian R&D firms. DFAIT also provided administrative support for the Canada-California Strategic Innovation Partnership. In February 2010, the Partnership announced 15 projects emerging from its first Call for Proposals. Budget 2010 announced the renewal of the International Science and Technology Partnerships Program.

Implementation of the Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) Strategy for Canada's international extractive sector accelerated in 2009-2010. On October 2, 2009, the first CSR Counsellor was appointed to act as an impartial reviewer of requests to undertake informal mediation and fact finding. This was followed by the official launch of the independent CSR Centre of Excellence, which will develop and disseminate CSR best practices.

The department continued to promote the use of Canada's Pacific Gateway to the world's largest shippers. Promotion activities included three business-to-business road shows; a presence at four international industry events; advertising placements in 15 international transportation and logistics publications; and seven incoming media missions, which produced articles in 158 publications. Although it is not possible to establish a direct link, Canada's market share of West Coast North American container traffic increased from 8.5% in 2006 to 11% in 2009, a 29% increase.

Export/import permits: The department continued to develop export and import control policies and administer quotas and permits under the Export and Import Permits Act to protect Canada's economic interests as well as the strategic interests of its allies. Approximately 494,000 export and import permits were issued to Canadian businesses last fiscal year, which included 12,000 permits issued for strategic goods.

development and modernization of tools and strategies.	Implement new functionality in electronic client relationship management (TRIO) to better track all aspects of the Integrative Trade Model.	Met all: The TCS is now able to track all service delivery to clients in all business lines, allowing a breakdown by type of service (such as trade, innovation, investment, Canadian direct investment abroad, foreign direct investment and global value chains).
	Implement performance indicators for managers and communicate the Integrative Trade Model to staff around the world.	Met all: Performance indicators were included in performance management agreements and a series of webinars was held to educate staff in offices in Canada and abroad on the department's Integrative Trade Model; 634 people joined these webinars.

Lessons Learned: The TCS has begun to address service delivery issues identified during the comprehensive 2009 client survey and has set a target to improve the overall satisfaction rate of clients by 5% over the next two years. Feedback provided by clients has shaped a service improvement initiative that encompasses updates to the training curriculum, enhanced collaboration through network-leveraging communications technologies, and improvements to the tools and systems available to all trade staff.

To more accurately track client satisfaction, the TCS has developed an ongoing survey in which clients are asked to provide feedback 60 days after receiving a service.

The Integrative Trade Model (ITM), which was introduced as part of the departmental transformation process, has guided DFAIT in aligning its organizational culture with the needs of Canadian global businesses in an increasingly competitive and integrated global economy. The goal of the ITM is to leverage the combined value of the extensive network of the Trade Commissioner Service to the benefit of clients. Client success stories and positive feedback from the client survey demonstrate that the ITM is accomplishing this goal, even as refinements are implemented to ensure the principles of the ITM become engrained throughout the organization.

The four priority-sector structured practices (Aerospace, Clean Technologies, Information and Communication Technologies, and Infrastructure) have been shaped based on the success of the pilot project that established the Life Sciences Structured Practice. Two new virtual practices (Advanced Automotive Manufacturing, and Wine) were established based on the experience of co-locating a trade commissioner with the Canadian Venture Capital Association, and corresponding sector strategies have been developed. Global practice leads were engaged from industry to offer guidance to the sector practices and provide deeper sector expertise to strengthen the department's capacity to develop, assess and implement global integrative strategies. The four priority-sector structured practices and two virtual practices now have advisory boards in place, consisting of public and private sector stakeholders who provide ongoing strategic advice and validate the work of the practices.

Based on its experience with activities surrounding the 2010 Winter Games, the department found that foreign direct investment attraction campaigns held in the context of major international events are effective, and direct investor engagement is a good way to secure interest in investing in Canada. In fact, the Minister for International Trade stated to the press: "I think all of us underestimated the opportunity that the Olympics presented... we wish we would have made a bigger promotional effort here."

2.2.2 Program Activity 4: Consular Affairs

Description: This program activity manages and delivers consular services and advice to Canadians. This work is done through consular agents and officers in Canada and at missions abroad, and through Travel.gc.ca.²⁶ The main target groups are Canadians outside Canada and Canadians planning to travel or live abroad.

The word "consular" describes the services that a country provides for its citizens abroad. These services are clearly established in the 1963 Vienna Convention on Consular Relations, to which Canada is a signatory.

Canadians abroad can obtain consular assistance at more than 260 consular points of service in over 150 countries around the world, 24 hours a day, seven days a week. More than 500 consular staff at missions abroad and at DFAIT headquarters help Canadians to prepare for international travel and also assist them outside Canada. In providing consular services, DFAIT is supported by Passport Canada as well as by a number of federal partners, including Citizenship and Immigration Canada (CIC), the Canada Border Services Agency, the Department of National Defence, and the Public Health Agency of Canada.

Benefits for Canadians: This program activity benefits Canadians by providing prompt and effective management of the Government of Canada's response to international emergencies that affect Canadians and their interests; by offering timely and practical information on foreign travel; and by delivering consular services and assistance in distress situations outside the country.

Canadians are better informed and well prepared to travel safely and responsibly.		Due to a change in government policy pertaining to public opinion research, the previously identified indicator (i.e. the percentage of travellers surveyed who list [unprompted] consular communication tools as a source for safety- and security-related information on new destinations) was not available for use. Target: 17%.		Met all: This performance score is based on assessment of the work associated with the planning highlights noted below.
Canadians receive satisfactory assistance abroad.		Percentage of clients who responded favourably regarding consular services received abroad. Target: 65%.		Exceeded: Of the clients who voluntarily provided feedback on routine services such as provision of a new passport, 92% said they were either satisfied or very satisfied.
		Due to a change in government policy pertaining to public opinion research, the previously identified indicator (i.e. the percentage of travellers surveyed who responded that they would contact a mission if they found themselves in trouble in a foreign country) was not available for use. Target: 75%.		In 2009-2010, DFAIT responded to more than 6,400 cases related to Canadians in distress while outside the country. As well, another 8,000 Canadians were assisted during emergency or crisis situations abroad (e.g. the earthquakes in Haiti and Chile).

Performance Analysis: With regard to meeting the first expected result noted above (Canadians are better informed and well prepared to travel safely and responsibly), DFAIT consular and communications staff collaborated on providing travel reports and warnings for Canadians, including an online summary of consular incidents in 2008,²⁷ to increase overall awareness of consular services. DFAIT issued online information on emergencies abroad throughout 2009-2010, with daily updates as required, to highlight consular information and guidance. In an effort to raise public awareness of consular services in general, consular staff took part in an increased number of travel and trade shows (26 in 2009-2010, up from 21 in 2008-2009) in Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom, including Canadian Snowbird Association “extravaganzas,” the Canadian International Education Conference, and the Travel Health Insurance Association of Canada annual general meeting. As a result, consular outreach to various target groups increased by 75% over the preceding year.

With respect to the second expected result noted above (Canadians receive satisfactory assistance abroad), DFAIT met all its 2009-2010 commitments. It reorganized consular activities to better meet evolving emergency management needs, established a robust contingency planning function, created the first of three planned regional consular and emergency support offices staffed with experienced management consular officers (MCOs), designed a training program for all staff involved in emergency management, supported the renewal of the Management Consular Officer stream, and increased training for consular staff on how to deal with complex issues and events abroad. These results enabled the department to respond much more quickly and effectively to major international emergencies in the past year, including the earthquakes in Haiti and Chile.

Create regional consular and emergency support offices, staffed with experienced MCOs, to enhance regional capacity to effectively plan for and respond to emergencies.	First office of this kind opened. Target: one office.	Met all: The first of three planned offices of this kind opened in Ankara in September 2009 as a pilot project. Fully operational, the office was very active in improving regional coordination of emergency planning among Canada's missions in the Middle East and in supporting mission emergency planning for major events in Africa. Based on the results of the Ankara pilot project, work is under way to open a second such office in Panama in September 2010.
Develop a robust contingency planning function that integrates all types of hazards (security, consular, pandemic, natural disasters, etc.) into a single streamlined approach for headquarters and missions abroad.	New emergency planning tools developed. Target: new tools in development—50% completion rate.	Met all: The new Emergency Management Portal was developed to provide timely and accurate information regarding emerging situations. It will be implemented in 2010-2011.

Target: 75% of consular emergency staff trained.	Met all: Based on an analysis of training needs, DFAIT initiated development of key training on incident management and on emergency and business continuity planning. Some 91% of emergency management staff was trained in 2009-2010. Following the Haitian earthquake, training was also provided to some 280 DFAIT employees who volunteered in the Emergency Operations Centre.
Increase outreach through all media to help Canadians prepare for safe and healthy travel abroad.	Number of people reached during travel and trade shows. Target: increased number of people reached.	Met all: DFAIT participated in outreach initiatives that included 26 travel and trade shows in Canada and abroad, reaching more than 220,000 people (up from 125,000 reached in 21 such shows in the previous year). As a result of DFAIT's consular communications work with clients in the public and private sectors, more and more associations and organizations are integrating DFAIT's key messages about travelling safely abroad into their own public messaging. DFAIT distributed more than 4.2 million publications on safe travel, an increase of 2% from the previous year. The increase is attributed, in part, to the growing popularity of DFAIT's safe-travel fact sheets, such as Drugs and Travel: Do's and Don'ts ²⁹ and Well on Your Way: A Canadian's Guide to Healthy Travel Abroad . ³⁰ The number of subscribers to the daily travel updates ³¹ increased 49% from last year to 29,700 subscribers.

This year, priority was given to Passport Canada due to the high volume of passport services (over 157,000 requests for service) provided at missions abroad. Discussions with Citizenship and Immigration Canada on citizenship-related issues are under way.
Implement projects to support renewal of the MCO stream of the Foreign Service so that the department has sufficient numbers of well-trained MCOs available to conduct consular work at headquarters and missions abroad.	Projects are developed to improve recruitment and retention of MCOs. Target: projects are implemented in the areas of classification and training.	Met all: Plans to support renewal of the MCO stream were implemented, with development of an updated model to ensure appropriate classification of positions. As a result, 8% of MCO positions (15 positions) were reclassified. Phase 2 of a separate reallocation exercise to move the MCO group to an appropriate classification was also completed. In addition, DFAIT provided on-site mentoring to 24 program managers and training for all new MCOs (more than 40).
Improve capacity to address complex consular issues, through identification and analysis of trends and emerging issues and through development of tools to assist in delivery of consular services at headquarters and missions abroad.	Support provided to front-line consular officers in dealing with complex consular cases. Target: support provided as required on complex consular cases.	Met all: Front-line consular officers were able to call on other consular staff for assistance in preparing briefing and communications products as well as in conducting research and analysis on complex consular issues. Following the Haitian earthquake, additional case support was provided by creating a specialized response unit that handled 238 adoption cases (Haitian children) and individual cases related to Canadian children in Haiti.
Strengthen the department's ability to resolve consular cases in which Canadian children are victimized, such as abduction of children from Canada, custody disputes, welfare cases abroad, forced marriages, etc. (Renewed efforts are to be made to increase the number of signatory countries to the Hague Convention on the Civil Aspects of International Child Abduction, to provide assistance to signatory countries that face implementation	Training provided to case management officers who specialize in child-related cases. Target: development of new mechanisms for resolving international child abductions.	Met all: 100% of staff that deals exclusively with child-related cases received specialized training in management of these often highly sensitive situations. Hague Convention: At its 2009 meeting, the Council on General Affairs and Policy of the Hague Conference on Private International Law authorized the establishment of a working party to promote development of mediation structures to help resolve cross-border family disputes concerning custody of, or contact with, children. The recommendation to establish a working party derived from a proposal made by Canada, which was approved at the Third Malta Judicial Conference on Cross-Frontier Family Law Issues in March 2009. Draft principles were developed by the working party on the use of mediation as a tool to resolve cases of international child abduction by parents.

difficulties, and to engage countries that are not prepared to join the Hague Convention through a working party co-chaired by Canada and Pakistan.)

Lessons Learned: Efforts to improve the consular website will continue next year, based in part on an analysis of its use by visitors. For instance, the content and presentation of the country travel reports will be overhauled. In terms of emergency management, the regional support office pilot project in Ankara demonstrated that in addition to being highly effective in providing surge capacity during emergencies, such offices can also provide support in terms of overall preparedness by reviewing emergency plans and testing them against broader regional realities.

2.2.3 Program Activity 5: Passport Canada

Description: This program activity is responsible for issuing, revoking, withholding and recovering Canadian passports, as well as for providing instruction on their use. It issues secure Canadian travel documents by authenticating the identity and entitlement of applicants, facilitates the global travel of Canadians, and contributes to international and domestic security. The most common travel document issued by Passport Canada (98%) is the familiar, 24-page blue passport. The main target group is Canadian citizens travelling abroad. In recent years, passport demand has increased steadily to the point that, at present, more than 60% of Canadians hold passports.

Each year, Passport Canada uses a forecasting model to estimate the number of passport applications it expects to process (which can vary widely from month to month), to establish budgets for upcoming fiscal years, and to predict production needs. To ensure reliable, consistent and accessible services to Canadians everywhere, the agency is guided by quantifiable service standards.

Passport Canada finances its operations from the fees charged to clients. The agency operates by means of a revolving fund, which enables it to accumulate an annual surplus (or deficit) of up to $4 million. It can also carry over surplus revenues from year to year to offset future shortfalls.

Benefits for Canadians: Canadians rely on Passport Canada to provide them with innovative, reliable, timely, consistent, efficient and accessible passport services; an increased ability to gain entry to other countries using authorized travel documents; a decreased incidence of fraudulent use of Canadian travel documents; and a decreased incidence of valid Canadian travel documents held by ineligible parties. Canadians also benefit from access to passport services through a variety of service channels: in Canada at the agency's headquarters, regional offices and receiving agents³² or by mail; and outside the country at Canada's missions.

Canadians receive innovative, reliable, consistent and accessible passport services.		Due to a change in government policy pertaining to public opinion research, the previously identified indicator (i.e. the percentage of clients who indicate that they have been satisfied with passport services received) was not available for use. Target: 90%.	Met all: Turnaround time performance is closely linked to client satisfaction. Passport Canada delivered 99% of travel documents within service standards. In March 2009, the Auditor General of Canada expressed satisfaction with the progress Passport Canada had made in response to recommendations made in the 2005 and 2007 audits.
		Percentage of Canadians living in Canada who have access to a point of service within 100 km. Target: 95%.	Met all: Passport Canada offers a wide variety of service channels (Passport Canada headquarters, 34 regional offices and 197 receiving agents across Canada; by mail; and at Canada's missions abroad).

Performance Analysis: In 2009-2010, Passport Canada processed 4.9 million passports, a 10.28% increase over the previous year. A total of 99% were produced in line with turnaround time standards.

³² Receiving agents receive passport applications, review them to ensure that the documents are in order, and forward them to Passport Canada for processing.

For 2009-2010, Passport Canada had an operating deficit of $15.2 million, significantly lower than the deficit of $40.5 million in 2008-2009. The reduction in the operating deficit is due to an increase of $28 million in fee revenues as a result of the increased demand for passports associated with the second phase of the Western Hemisphere Travel Initiative (WHTI), the requirement for passports for entry to the U.S. via all land border crossings effective June 1, 2009. Despite the steep increase in demand, Passport Canada improved service levels while keeping its expenditures down to only $1.7 million more than the previous year. This was achieved, in part, with cost savings and additional revenues totalling approximately $43.1 million, which resulted from using activity-based management, introducing a global courier solution for all mailed passports, and developing a new pricing strategy for diplomatic and special passports.

To improve service standards in the wake of Phase II of WHTI, Passport Canada reallocated resources and developed a contingency plan to increase operational capacity to ensure a better response to spikes in demand. The agency also simplified the passport renewal process, increased passport printing capacity, expanded the number of points of service, and instituted ongoing monitoring and tracking to forecast demand fluctuations. All of these efforts to increase capacity were recognized by the Office of the Auditor General when auditing the agency's preparedness for Phase II of WHTI.

Passport Canada was awarded the 2009 Institute of Public Administration of Canada/Deloitte Public Sector Leadership Award gold medal. The award recognizes "organizations that have demonstrated outstanding leadership by taking bold steps to improve Canada through advancements in public policy and management."

In 2006, the International Civil Aviation Organization published new passport specifications calling for embedding of an electronic chip that is encoded with the same information found on page 2 of the current passport (surname, given name, date of birth, place of birth and gender) plus a digital picture of the bearer's face. More than 80 countries, including all other G-8 countries, already issue such biometric or ePassports, which increase the security and integrity of travel documents. So far Passport Canada has issued 26,924 diplomatic and special ePassports (18,818 in 2009-2010). Full introduction of the 10-year ePassport will take place in 2012. In a world of rapidly advancing border control technology, and given the importance of trade and travel to the Canadian economy, the production of a Canadian ePassport is critical. Adopting the ePassport will not only improve security, but will also help ensure continued visa-free access to other countries for Canadian travellers.

Performance Highlights

From 2009-2010 RPP	Performance Indicators and Targets	Performance Status and Summary
Passport Canada is planning flexible operations to meet the anticipated extraordinary demand for services as a result of Phase II of the Western Hemisphere Travel Initiative. Plans include the transfer of applications between offices to smooth workload across operations; the transfer of telephone inquiries between call centres; extension of working hours as required, including adding evening and weekend shifts; and development of flexible staffing options.	Percentage of completed applications processed within announced service standards.	Exceeded: A total of 99% of applications were completed within turnaround time standards.
Past preparations for Phase I of the Western Hemisphere Travel Initiative significantly increased the Passport Canada workforce. This increase in salary expenditure affects the financial flexibility of Passport Canada in that some other planned initiatives may need to be delayed to future years. Moreover, the fee structure might not be able to sustain increased fixed costs caused by major technological and capital investments in infrastructure. Consideration must also be given to uncertainties in projected volumes and the related impact on revenue, which is the source of funding of the organization.	Monitoring, forecasting and consultation processes in place.	Met all: The agency completed a five-year investment plan and also completed the preparations required under the User Fees Act to begin public consultations on fees in preparation for the launch of the ePassport.

Lessons Learned: Passport Canada’s operations can be greatly impacted by external factors beyond its control. Therefore, flexible operations and the ability to reallocate resources quickly to respond to volume surges is extremely important, as was seen in the agency’s response to Phase II of the Western Hemisphere Travel Initiative. The agency made various improvements to its contingency planning, following recommendations made in a 2009 status report by the Office of the Auditor General. In addition, stronger forecasting methods and more rigorous oversight of performance metrics, such as turnaround times, application inventory and actual demand, have significantly improved planning and decision making.

2.3 Strategic Outcome 3: Canada’s International Platform

Description: On behalf of the Government of Canada, DFAIT maintains a mission network of infrastructure and services to enable the international operations of the government and its partners at missions abroad. This strategic outcome is supported by two program activities: Canada’s International Platform: Support at Headquarters and Canada’s International Platform: Support at Missions Abroad.

2.3.1 Program Activity 6: Canada’s International Platform: Support at Headquarters

Description: This program activity focuses on the management and delivery of infrastructure and related services at DFAIT headquarters to enable the international operations of the entire Government of Canada and its partners located at Canada’s missions abroad. This work is done in coordination with 30 partners.³⁴ The main target group is the network of missions abroad as well as partners at missions abroad.

Benefits for Canadians: This program activity benefits Canadians by providing the international platform required by the Government of Canada and its partners at missions abroad. More specifically, this program activity:

- develops and implements management tools such as business cases, costing, planning and forecasting;
- ensures that the allocation of DFAIT’s human and financial resources at missions is aligned with the priorities of the department and the government;
- continues to make security enhancements at Canada’s missions abroad to protect government personnel and assets; and
- ensures that common services delivered at missions are as cost-effective and efficient as possible, based on clear service standards and expectations.

Performance Analysis: An improved governance structure related to this program activity (i.e. the revised MOU on Operations and Support at Missions and the modified Common Service Abroad Charge) has improved partners' understanding of DFAIT's role in providing common services at missions abroad. It has also established clear service standards and ensured reliable funding for these services. The new Foreign Service Directives have reduced administrative work and helped support the growth in Government of Canada representation abroad more efficiently. Management of locally engaged staff was strengthened by the review of local terms and conditions as well as by the establishment of a new formula for annual salary adjustments. Finally, significant efforts were made in strengthening security at missions abroad.

Performance Highlights

From 2009-2010 RPP	Performance Indicators and Targets	Performance Status and Summary
Ensure that representation abroad reflects Canada's interests and evolving international needs and requirements in a more effective and efficient manner.	A master agreement is in place for common services.	Met all: In April 2009, the Memorandum of Understanding on Operations and Support at Missions was updated and signed by 22 federal departments and agencies and one co-locator. The remaining partners, provincial and other governments, have individual MOUs for operations and support directly with the missions in which they are located.
	Strategic Review, Expenditure Review Committee and Budget 2006 reduction targets are met.	Met all: The International Platform Branch contributed to all DFAIT budget reduction exercises and implemented innovative savings initiatives in order to fund departmental financial pressures. The Branch has been successful in transferring positions and funds from HQ to missions abroad to facilitate Phase 1 Strategic Review commitments.
	Engagement of DFAIT's governance structure.	Met all: There was full participation by DFAIT senior management (Deputy Minister Sub-Committee, Assistant Deputy Minister Council, Missions Board, Mission Operations Committee, and Interdepartmental Working Group on Common Services) in implementation of the department's new governance structure.
	Establishment of baseline for service delivery standards for all common services.	Met all: DFAIT revised the service delivery standards to align with the revised MOU. Implementation is scheduled for 2010-2011.
Increase staff deployment to missions abroad.	Provision of timely and efficient support to growth of DFAIT and partner positions at missions abroad. Develop and implement new Foreign Service Directives (FSDs).	New FSDs established and fully implemented.	Met all: New FSDs were implemented effective April 1, 2009. The new directives took into account new family structures and realities faced by employees and their families posted abroad. The updates resulted in reduced administrative work and reporting requirements.
	Increased controls put in place for management of FSDs.	Met all: A new procedure to review hardship levels of postings abroad was implemented, which will ensure a more rigorous and objective approach. Over 30 mission hardship reviews were completed in 2009-2010.
	Percentage of Canada-based staff (CBS) who respond favourably regarding FSD services and support (source:	Met all: A survey of 1,035 employees who were relocated in 2009-2010 indicated a satisfaction rate of more than 80% with respect to timeliness, clarity, knowledge, and services provided by FSD advisers.

	FSD client service annual survey). ³⁵ Target: 75% satisfaction rate.
	Number of successful relocations of CBS to, from and between postings.	Met all: A total of 1,035 DFAIT and partners' employees and their families were successfully relocated. In comparison, 1,007 employees were relocated in 2008-2009.
Develop new policies for locally engaged staff and spousal employment.	Timely review of compensation and benefits for locally engaged staff (LES).	Met all: The Total Compensation Review was launched in 2009-2010 to systematically review the compensation and benefits for LES in all missions, with completion anticipated by the end of 2011-2012. In 2009-2010, the planned reviews of 64 country compensation packages were launched, with 14 of them fully completed during the year. The reviews are comprehensive and take approximately one year to bring from inception to completion. Following the completion of the reviews of all missions, a consistent four-year review cycle will be implemented to ensure regular and timely reviews.
	Establishment of new policies and guidelines that improve efficiency in managing LES.	Met all: DFAIT approved a new formula for annual salary adjustments. Its application has resulted in increased efficiency, better financial management and improved transparency and consistency. DFAIT approved policies on mandatory retirement and special payments for LES working in countries where active hostilities exist. In ongoing efforts to align human resource practices for LES with those for CBS, the department has standardized its internal procedures for the handling of grievances from LES. Progress was made on the creation of a joint CBS-LES instrument of sub-delegation of human resources authorities to managers. Final approval will be sought in early 2010-2011. A step-by-step guide to classification, a staffing toolkit, and a staff relations guide have been developed to provide guidance and standardize processes at missions abroad.
	Establishment of new policies for spousal employment.	Met all: DFAIT launched a new suite of policies to facilitate the employment of spouses abroad: Policy on the Employment of Spouses, Telework Policy, Alternate Work Arrangements Policy, and Policy on Non-Advertised Appointments.
Improve the costing framework for common services, sustain the accuracy of financial costs, implement a new services model, and prepare for an increase in departmental representation abroad.	An enhanced costing framework for common services established.	Met all: The enhanced Common Service Abroad Charge was applied, beginning on April 1, 2009, to assist in the recovery of direct and indirect costs associated with the delivery of common services, independent of where the resources are located.
	Accuracy of financial costs improved.	Met all: Monthly bureau and branch financial reports were implemented to actively monitor expenditure trends, burn-rates and over-programming, as well as to control travel, overtime and hospitality expenditures.
	Establishment of a baseline for the Common Service Model (CSM).	Met all: An automated costing system was implemented in February 2010 to enable more efficient and timely generation of costing information related to position changes at missions. The CSM was applied in selected missions in Latin America, Asia Pacific, Africa and the Middle East as a baseline exercise. In the United States, the CSM was applied regionally through the Regional Service Centre in Washington. The CSM is designed to gather information on common service resources in missions, and will be used for future planning.

From 2009-2010 RPP	Performance Indicators and Targets	Performance Status and Summary
Develop and implement standards for physical protection, with special emphasis on blast mitigation; develop an online security course for all employees; and implement a revised security infractions policy.	First phase of the Critical Infrastructure Protection Program (CIPP) Physical Security Guidelines approved.	Met all: Phase 1 of the CIPP Physical Security Guidelines, which cover site perimeter elements, was approved in fall 2009. Phase 2 will cover the building envelope, and Phase 3 will require reformatting and updating of interior requirements. Both are in development. Research pertaining to development of official residence and staff quarter guidelines is under way. CIPP developed detailed guidelines for armoured vehicles, chancery perimeter security elements and physical security standards. A mandatory online security course was rolled out to 12,000 users of SIGNET, the department's secure computer network. Course completion is required before a SIGNET account can be obtained. A revised security infractions policy was implemented, adding a monitoring and enforcement program.
Increase mission security.	Enhanced tools, procedures, policies and strategies developed to protect personnel, critical information and assets at headquarters and abroad.	Mostly met: A comprehensive review of security affecting people, information and infrastructure at Canada's missions abroad was conducted and a strategy was developed to strengthen security abroad. The following initiatives were undertaken with existing funds: work was undertaken to strengthen mission risk assessments; ongoing physical security improvements to chanceries were made under CIPP; roll-out of the Security Incident Reporting Tool to all missions began, to be completed in 2011-2012; governance for security abroad was strengthened through the development of an accountability framework; an ongoing pilot program of posting security program managers to the field continued in Kabul and Islamabad; five new Military Police security officers were posted abroad; specific security training for high-threat environments was developed and offered to staff; and a new training program was developed for mission security officers.

Lessons Learned: What worked well: A number of initiatives have resulted in more streamlined and more efficient operations related to support for Canada's representation abroad. These initiatives include the establishment of an automated costing system for changes to positions abroad, implementation of monthly branch/bureau financial reports, development of an integrated human resources business plan with respect to the international platform, as well as an improved approach to strategic business planning and budget forecasting.

What can be improved and what we are doing about it: Through the modified Common Service Abroad Charge, DFAIT secured recovery of direct and indirect common services costs from partners operating at missions abroad. DFAIT is leading an interdepartmental process to meet the Treasury Board of Canada requirement for a review of Canada's representation abroad. The department is preparing a broader cost recovery framework to ensure the sustainability of service. This work is expected to be completed by 2012.

2.3.2 Program Activity 7: Canada's International Platform: Support at Missions Abroad

Description: This program activity focuses on the management and delivery of infrastructure and related services at missions to enable Canada's representation abroad. This work is done by coordinating with DFAIT's partners at Canada's missions abroad. DFAIT ensures that services related to human resources, financial management, assets and materiel, comptrollership, mail and diplomatic courier, and information management and technology (IM/IT) are in place at missions to support Canada's international policy objectives and program delivery abroad. The main target group is the Government of Canada network of missions and DFAIT partners at those missions abroad.

Benefits for Canadians: This program activity benefits Canadians by providing the international platform required by the entire federal government and its partners at missions abroad. More specifically, it:

- ensures that common services delivered at missions are as cost-effective and efficient as possible, based on clear service standards and expectations;
- continues to establish regional service centres to better serve clients and stakeholders; and
- ensures that the allocation of DFAIT's human and financial resources is aligned with the priorities of the department and the government.

Results obtained will be used as a baseline for future evaluation.
		Service standards for all common services in place. Target: establishment of common service standards (2009-2010).		Met all: DFAIT updated the service delivery standards to align with the updated MOU. Implementation is scheduled for 2010-2011.
The department is responsive in addressing Canada's evolving presence abroad.		Percentage of approved mission opening/closing requests completed on schedule. Target: 95%.		Met all: 100% of mission opening/closing requests were managed effectively.
		Percentage of approved mission position changes completed on schedule. Target: 95%.		Exceeded: At the end of 2009-2010, DFAIT had completed 97.9% of requested position changes for DFAIT and partners' staff.
		Percentage of staff deployed to missions on schedule. Target: 95%.		Met all: 1,035 employees and their families, representing 100% of the requests for deployment, were successfully relocated within established timelines.

Performance Analysis: The department met its objectives of ensuring a high level of satisfaction among its common service clients. Results from an informal online client satisfaction survey showed a satisfaction rate of 75% for all common services measured.³⁶ Service standards were established and accepted by signatories to the Memorandum of Understanding on Operations and Support at Missions.

As part of augmenting Canada's presence abroad to align with government priorities, DFAIT supported the opening of new missions in Porto Alegre (Brazil) and Ahmedabad (India), and established interim operations in Istanbul (Turkey) and Doha (Qatar). DFAIT also fully supported the federal response to international emergencies, such as the earthquakes in Haiti (January 2010) and Chile (February 2010). The department provided rapid and coordinated support, such as property and IM/IT support as well as dedicated teams of experts. Finally, a Regional Service Centre was launched in London as part of the department's new service delivery model to streamline common services and provide better support to missions. Significant progress was made to establish the Regional Service Centre in Washington, D.C., as well.

Performance Highlights

From 2009-2010 RPP	Performance Indicators and Targets	Performance Status and Summary
Enable Canada's objectives and evolving presence in growing and emerging markets, as well as in the United States and throughout the hemisphere, through the provision of common services in a	Effective management of all mission opening/closing requests.	Met all: In support of Canada's evolving presence abroad, the department successfully implemented requests for mission openings and closings. New missions were opened in Playa del Carmen (Mexico), Cancun (Mexico), Puerto Vallarta (Mexico) San Jose de Cabo (Mexico), Porto Alegre (Brazil), Punta Cana (Dominican Republic) and Ahmedabad (India). Six missions were closed in 2009-2010: Phnom Penh (Cambodia), Hamburg (Germany), Tucson (U.S.), Cape Town (South Africa), Sarajevo (Bosnia) and Lilongwe (Malawi).

³⁶ Based on a 2009-2010 informal client survey distributed to approximately 7,600 employees (both CBS and LES); 196 employees responded, for a response rate of 2.6%. Given the low response rate, firm conclusions cannot be drawn, but the findings provide a positive indication of client satisfaction of common services.

responsive and effective manner.	Provision of common services to support Canada's evolving presence abroad.	Met all: Modifications were made to the Canadian chancery in Mexico City following the July 2009 imposition of visa requirements for Mexicans visiting Canada. The modifications allowed for 64 additional staff (60 LES and 4 CBS) to enable the mission to process the increased number of visa applications. In addition, a lease was signed for space in a multi-tenant building to house all Citizenship and Immigration Canada operations outside the mission.
	Percentage of approved mission position changes completed on schedule. Target: 95%.	Exceeded: At the end of 2009-2010, DFAIT had fulfilled 97.9% of requested position changes from the department and its partners.
	Number of employees relocated to missions successfully.	Met all: Relocations for 1,035 DFAIT and partners' employees and their families were completed successfully. In comparison, 1,007 employees were relocated in 2008-2009.
Enable Canada's objectives and evolving presence in Afghanistan through the provision of common services in a responsive and effective manner.	Establishment of an appropriate operating environment in Afghanistan and Pakistan to enable program delivery.	Met all: Afghanistan: DFAIT acquired land by means of a long-term lease in July 2009. Existing property and development plans for the new site will support current and post-2011 program requirements, including accommodating program operations currently in Kandahar. The hardship level of both of Canada's missions in Afghanistan remains extremely high, and special provisions of the Foreign Service Directives continue to be invoked to ensure that staff serving in Afghanistan are compensated for the severe hardships they face. The IM/IT team installed secure video-conferencing capabilities in Kabul and Kandahar, and enabled remote network access to employees in the Provincial Reconstruction Team and in Kabul. Met all: Pakistan: In June 2009, DFAIT signed a long-term lease with the Government of Pakistan for a new compound site that will consolidate the chancery, official residence and staff quarters within the diplomatic zone. Improvements have been made on existing compound sites in order to accommodate all Canadians within the diplomatic zone.
Support mission and domestic regional offices in locations that are in line with Government of Canada priorities.	Support provided to the newly opened missions and domestic regional offices.	Met all: DFAIT ensured that all infrastructure and related services were in place for all new missions. In support of Canada's evolving presence abroad, new missions were opened in Playa del Carmen (Mexico), Cancun (Mexico), Puerto Vallarta (Mexico), San Jose Del Cabo (Mexico), Porto Alegre (Brazil) and Punta Cana (Dominican Republic). Interim operations were established in Istanbul (Turkey), Doha (Qatar), Acapulco (Mexico), Mazatlan (Mexico) and Oaxaca (Mexico). In addition, one domestic regional office was opened in Kelowna, BC.
Strengthen the management of locally engaged staff (LES) abroad and create more opportunities for spouses of Canadian staff serving at missions abroad.	Governance and planning structures in place for management of locally engaged staff.	Met all: DFAIT developed terms of reference for the creation of LES Management Consultation Boards (LESMCB) at each mission abroad. These boards will put in place effective platforms where departmental priorities and employee concerns are discussed. DFAIT established LESMCBs at all missions. A total of 89 LESMCBs have submitted a year-end report, representing 95 missions. DFAIT undertook its annual comprehensive LES human resources planning. Plans were completed for 92% of the missions. DFAIT is working with the remaining missions to ensure effective HR planning. The department also expanded its requirement for learning plans and performance management programs for LES.

From 2009-2010 RPP	Performance Indicators and Targets	Performance Status and Summary
	Create more opportunities for spouses of Canadian staff serving at missions abroad.	Met all: The new DFAIT Telework Policy aims to help spouses going on posting, particularly those who are also DFAIT employees, to continue their careers overseas. The department facilitated over 40 telework arrangements in 2009-2010; these spanned a range of HQ branches and a wide variety of responsibilities and professional groups. A number of spouses working for other government departments also arranged telework with their home departments. The number of Reciprocal Employment Arrangements/Agreements (REAs) was increased to facilitate spouses' access to local job markets in more countries. In 2009-2010, DFAIT sought and received an omnibus negotiating mandate to pursue new treaty-based REAs. In addition, two new REAs were put in place and a further four are in negotiation.
Implement a new service delivery model, based on regional service centres (RSCs), to streamline common services abroad and consolidate repetitive, resource-intensive tasks previously performed at each mission.	Implementation of a regional service centre.	Met all: DFAIT launched an RSC in London in fall 2009 to serve missions in Europe, the Middle East and Africa. DFAIT leased property for this RSC (a permanent move is to take place in late 2010). The management team is in place, as well as one functional expert (IM/IT), with the balance of the functional experts to be in place in 2010. Business processes and delegations have been mapped out and are being implemented. Significant work was performed to prepare for the launch of the RSC in the United States, which was launched in April 2010. The focus of the RSCs is on modernizing service delivery, increasing the scope of services provided in the field, and building on best practices and assets already in place in the network of Canadian missions in their region of responsibility.
Relocate selected authorities and accountabilities from headquarters to the regional service centres in order to improve operational support and decision making.	Agreements in place with headquarters divisions as to business processes and delegations.	Somewhat met: An agreement for business processes and delegations between the Corporate Finance and Operations Branch and the regional service centres has been concluded. Progress has been made in negotiating agreements related to human resources, property and procurement.

Lessons Learned: What worked well: The department's objective is to provide a timely and highly satisfactory response to Canada's evolving needs abroad. In so doing, DFAIT met all its performance targets for the year. As an example, DFAIT has fully supported Canada's new visitor visa policy in Mexico, which came into effect in July 2009 and required an important increase in common service delivery, resources and employees in a limited period of time. The scope of the project was equivalent to planning and bringing to operational capacity a medium-sized mission in about eight weeks. Another important achievement of 2009-2010 was the establishment of LES Management Consultation Boards at missions, which provide greater consistency across the network of missions abroad and ensure a more formal and regular dialogue among mission management, headquarters, the LES Governance Committee and the LES themselves.

What can be improved and what we are doing about it: Communications between headquarters and missions should be improved to support more seamless common services delivery. DFAIT launched a communications calendar to improve communications and control the tasking of missions. The department will also improve the use of service standards to ensure they are integrated into operations, and will continue efforts to establish agreements to relocate authorities and accountabilities from headquarters to regional service centres to better serve missions.

2.4 Internal Services

Description: As a program activity, Internal Services is the combination of process- and service-related activities that make possible all of the department's operations. Internal Services enables DFAIT to carry out its mandated functions and advance its strategic outcomes.

Benefits for Canadians: Internal Services benefits Canadians by enabling DFAIT to deliver its seven program activities. Internal Services strives to:

- ensure that DFAIT's governance structure facilitates the most effective and flexible decision making possible;

- get DFAIT's messages out to target audiences in an effective manner;
- provide the right human and financial resources to advance the department's key and ongoing priorities;
- provide quality legal advice to better enable DFAIT to achieve its goals and make it less likely to suffer significant harm to its public image or finances through violations of its legal obligations;
- generate the most effective, results-based planning to ensure logic and cohesion in all DFAIT activities;
- conduct audits and inspections to ensure that operations are transparent and accountable;
- ensure that the technological tools that are essential to a global operation are in place; and
- maintain a culture of continuous innovation and improvement.

Performance Highlights

Expected Results	Performance Indicators and Targets	Performance Status and Summary
Governance and Management Support: Management and Oversight
Full alignment with Treasury Board of Canada Secretariat (TBS) and departmental policies on audit, evaluation, inspections, and values and ethics.	Alignment with current policies on internal audit, evaluation, inspections, and values and ethics; and Management Accountability Framework (MAF) assessment scores for the relevant Area of Management (AoM). Target: MAF assessment scores "acceptable" or higher in relevant AoM.	Met all: DFAIT received a MAF score of "acceptable" for AoM 1 (Values-Based Leadership and Organizational Culture), a "strong" score for AoM 6 (Quality and Use of Evaluation) and an "acceptable" score for AoM 18 (Internal Audit).
Resource Management Services: Human Resources (HR)
High-quality human resources (HR) services are consistently delivered in support of core services.	Establishment of service standards for classification and staffing. Target: 80% compliance with these standards.	Mostly met: DFAIT established HR service delivery standards for staffing, classification and compensation amidst significant organizational transformation and a 15% workforce reduction. All standards were met at least 80% of the time, except for classification, due to surge requirements and a critical capacity shortage. DFAIT increased its classification capacity, which reduced the backlog by more than 50%. The department's capacity to meet these standards is largely based on the hiring freeze, which has been in place since July 8, 2009.
	Establishment and communication of service standards for compensation. Target: 80% compliance with these standards.	Mostly met: Compensation standards were developed and promulgated on March 30, 2009. Despite organizational change and workforce reduction, these standards were met at least 80% of the time.
The department is effectively staffed to deliver its business priorities.	Development of an integrated HR plan and accuracy of forecasted departmental needs. Target: one plan.	Met all: DFAIT produced the 2009-2012 Integrated Business and Human Resources Plan, identifying current and anticipated HR needs, key results and performance measures.

Expected Results	Performance Indicators and Targets	Performance Status and Summary
	Strategies in place for identified key shortage groups.	Mostly met: DFAIT identified shortages for the following occupational groups: management and consular affairs (AS-4-7), administrative assistants (AS-1-4), human resources advisers (PEs), economists (ECs) and commerce officers (COs). Strategies to deal with these shortages are currently being implemented. MCOs have been recruited at the AS-4 level to replenish pools and processes have been run to allow for growth into the AS-5 and AS-6 levels. Additionally, pools have been established at all levels to enable quick movement of employees into positions. The Administrative Assistant group has initiated and will continue recruitment and is presently developing a training/development program, which will ensure a strong foundation in administrative principles. The department has recruited PE-1s and has an ongoing PE development program that starts at the PE-1 level and trains HR advisors to the PE-4 working level. ECs have a pilot training program, however the major strategy for retention of the EC/CO shortage group is the proposed management of positions via a pool, therefore bridging the mobility gap for these non-rotational employees.
	Percentage of employees who have access to relevant learning advisory services and cost-effective training. Target: 80%.	Met all: Learning advisers from the Canadian Foreign Service Institute offered all DFAIT employees guidance on individual and organizational learning plans. In 2009-2010, these advisers also responded to 874 client requests. The Institute, which is the primary training provider for DFAIT, offers more than 150 learning activities. More e-learning courses were created to deliver cost-effective training. The Institute updated and launched 10 new online courses. It has also been providing webinars to offer more training to employees at missions and regional offices.
Resource Management Services: Financial Management and Asset Management: Acquisitions
Efficient and effective financial and procurement management service is delivered (which is based on a solid organizational foundation, consisting of sound business practices, processes, systems and people).	MAF assessments for AoM 16 (Effective Procurement) and AoM 17 (Effectiveness of Financial Management and Control). Target: score of "acceptable" or higher.	Mostly met: AoM 16 was not reviewed in the 2009-2010 MAF assessment as DFAIT received an "acceptable" rating in the previous MAF assessment. The AoM 17 overall score was "opportunity for improvement" with some elements scoring "acceptable." A 2010-2011 action plan has been developed to address areas of concern identified under AoM 17.
	Results of external and internal audit reports. Target: results that confirm compliance with policies	Somewhat met: There were no external audits in 2009-2010. Five internal audits that reviewed financial management at DFAIT were completed. An internal audit of resource allocation identified governance and control issues. A Management Action Plan, under the responsibility of the Chief Financial Officer (CFO), was put in place, and significant progress has been made to date with regular monitoring and quarterly reports to the Departmental Audit Committee. An audit of expenditure controls found that the process in place was not based on risk assessment; however, the audit did not find any problems to indicate that controls were not working effectively. The recommendations noted opportunities to focus resources more effectively on higher-risk transactions, with management agreeing. The audit of mission hospitality resulted in only minor financial issues requiring correction. Audits of the Francophonie Secretariat and Francophonie financial information made recommendations to strengthen financial reporting to the governance committee of the Secretariat; however, all financial transactions were in compliance with the Financial Administration Act. An audit of cash and banking led to management taking appropriate corrective actions in response to recommendations on strengthening financial management.

		On procurement, an internal audit was conducted in 2009-2010 at the request of Public Works and Government Services Canada. The audit consisted of reviewing a limited number of selected contracts. The results of this work showed full compliance with procurement requirements.
	Results of annual client surveys. Target: the majority of responses positive regarding services, information and communications.	Mostly met: Client consultations related to procurement were conducted to improve the planning exercise. Surveys on service and training requirements were included.
Clients received value-added financial and procurement management services in a timely manner.	Results of annual client surveys. Target: majority of responses positive.	Mostly met: ADMs and senior managers were interviewed by the CFO and DG–Resource Management to discuss current services and identify areas of concern. Financial services improvement (e.g. implementation of the Financial Management Adviser structure) was initiated in the International Platform Branch (DFAIT’s largest branch). Implementation will continue throughout the department in 2010-2011.
	Service levels for all major financial and procurement services. Target: service levels in place for all major financial and procurement services. Expected Results	Performance Indicators and Targets	Performance Status and Summary
Resource Management Services: Information Management
MAF assessment results for information management services are "acceptable" or higher.	MAF assessment for AoM 12 (Effectiveness of Information Management). Target: score "acceptable" or higher.	Met all: MAF assessment results for AoM 12 were "acceptable," with "strong" ratings for 12.1 (Information Management Governance) and 12.2 (Information Management Strategic Planning and Implementation).

Institute new systems to further provide functionality within the network.	Met all: To allow for faster and safer communications, the department's classified information system was renewed. To improve the management and sharing of information, 39 facilities were equipped with video-conferencing capability and over 4,000 employees were trained on information management.
	E-collaboration tools implemented and promoted.	Met all: Under the e-Collaboration initiative, the department launched Connections, a professional networking tool, which was accessed by over 2,000 employees. In addition, WIKI @ International, another main component of the e-Collaboration initiative that was previously launched, now includes more than 15,000 articles.
	Consolidated department websites on Interwoven platform.	Met all: All mission Internet sites were consolidated onto one platform, and adherence to Common Look and Feel standards was improved.

Performance Analysis: DFAIT's Internal Services activity does not fit exactly under Treasury Board of Canada Secretariat's three main headings identified for this program activity (i.e. governance and management support, resource management services, and asset management services). DFAIT has tried to minimize the dissimilarities by using the TBS headings to the greatest possible extent and by showing how the elements that make up this department's unique set of Internal Services fit together in a logical and coherent manner.

Governance and Management Support

Management and oversight: DFAIT initiated a significant shift in departmental resources from its Ottawa headquarters to missions abroad. The department continued with its substantive modernization program, focusing on the introduction of the New Business Model. To better respond to the volatile international environment in which it operates, DFAIT updated its Corporate Risk Profile and produced a draft Risk Management Policy. It continued to integrate risk management into its planning process. DFAIT received "acceptable" MAF scores related to audit and values and ethics, and a "strong" MAF score related to evaluation. In the case of audit, this represented a positive change from the "opportunity for improvement" score of the previous year.

Strategic policy and planning: DFAIT developed a vision of the foreign and trade ministry of the future, which guided consultations and decisions pertaining to implementation of the New Business Model. It strengthened its policy capacity through various measures, including adoption of an open policy-development model and extensive e-collaboration on policy issues. More work was done to better integrate the department's various planning activities, including the linkage with risk management.

Access to Information and Privacy (ATIP) requests: In efforts to improve its ability to meet its ATIP obligations, DFAIT intensified training on ATIP awareness across its operations, which helped in responding to ATIP requests. However, a large backlog of requests remained at the end of the fiscal year. In June 2010, DFAIT reallocated $2.7 million of additional ATIP funding, which will permit the department to clear the backlog of ATIP files by summer 2011 and build additional permanent capacity to meet expected demands. The improvements will be outlined in the next Annual Report to Parliament for 2010-2011.

Legal services: DFAIT was supplied with effective legal advice and support within established timelines approximately 90% of the time.

Communications: In 2009-2010, DFAIT issued 436 news releases, responded to more than 3,200 media and 67,000 public inquiries, and held 150 media events. The number of subscribers to CanadExport (the online magazine of the Trade Commissioner Service) increased by 7.5%, while podcast downloads rose by 70% over the same period.

Resource Management Services

Human resources: In 2009-2010, the HR function ensured that DFAIT had sufficient employees (or resources) in missions and at HQ to effectively carry out its core business. In line with the Transformation Agenda, the rebalancing of headquarters growth was initiated by the Resource Alignment Taskforce. Implementation of the New Business Model was achieved with extensive planning and consideration given to the Workforce Adjustment exercise, which was accomplished with minimum impact on affected employees. The new Integrated Business and Human Resources Plan and ongoing implementation of DFAIT's New Business Model contributed to improved HR services. DFAIT renewed its human resources through ongoing recruitment of Foreign Service officers, by continuing to draw from a pool of qualified candidates from the 2008 post-secondary recruitment exercise. To increase the foreign-language capacity of staff posted abroad, the Canadian Foreign Service Institute has stabilized funding and continues its implementation of its three-year Foreign Language Strategy. A Human Resources Business Redesign Project to map, simplify and improve HR processes has been initiated.

Financial management and asset management (acquisitions): To ensure efficient and effective services in financial and asset management, DFAIT has developed a project risk management tool for transfer payments; improved salary forecasting; improved the quality of financial advice provided to managers in HQ and abroad; improved departmental compliance with Treasury Board policies, in particular the policy on internal control; updated its policies, procedures and systems relating to contracting at HQ and abroad; expanded its web application tool (Shop@DFAIT) to support procurement at missions abroad; delivered tailored training on procurement and financial management activities to mission staff directly and through the Canadian Foreign Service Institute; and launched a project to strengthen the procurement process input to the financial system to standardize procurement reporting in HQ and missions.

Information management: DFAIT completed renewal of its classified information system (SIGNET-C5) and continued to expand its popular Internet presence (the Welcome page³⁷ received over one million hits in 2009-2010). The department also consolidated all mission websites onto one content management platform (Interwoven) and improved its ability to meet government-wide standards for Common Look and Feel.

Lessons Learned: Internal consultation as well as completion of a risk assessment and internal audit on resource allocation resulted in the development of a project to establish a Financial Management Adviser (FMA) structure for the largest branch within the department as part of the implementation of the CFO Model. The department-wide implementation of the FMA structure will continue over the course of 2010-2011. Managers will also have access to a new salary forecasting tool to significantly improve the management of salary budgets beginning in April 2010. The streamlining and implementation of standard corporate business processes will improve the accuracy, reliability and accessibility of financial information, while reducing system complexity and costs and improving financial controls, data integrity, and operational policy and audit compliance.

Financial information appearing in previous sections of this document is presented on a modified cash basis, in accordance with the government's expenditure management reporting policies. In this section, in keeping with Treasury Board policy, the department's financial highlights are presented on an accrual basis in accordance with Generally Accepted Accounting Principles, so the figures appearing in this section will differ slightly from the foregoing.

The department decided that it would no longer include Canada Account results in its financial statements as of 2009-2010 after discussions and review by the Office of the Comptroller General and the Departmental Audit Committee. The charts below illustrate the March 31, 2010, ending balances for each major financial statement grouping, along with the corresponding change from the previous fiscal year restated to exclude Canada Account transactions and other changes.

Total assets increased by $12 million (1%) year over year, primarily attributable to a $74 million increase in tangible capital assets ($1,169 million in 2009-2010 compared to $1,095 million in 2008-2009), offset by a $37 million decrease in amounts due from the Consolidated Revenue Fund, a decrease in accounts receivable and advances of $12 million, a decrease in prepaid expenses of $11 million, and a decrease in Passport Canada's inventories of $2 million.

Total liabilities decreased by $80 million (6%) year over year, mainly due to a $45 million decrease in accounts payable at year-end and accrued liabilities due to the liquidation of liabilities pertaining to two contribution agreements (United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime and United Nations Development Programme) and other employee benefits such as Foreign Service Directive vacation travel assistance. This was offset by a $15 million increase in employee severance benefits, mostly due to an increase in the percentage rate provided by Treasury Board used to calculate the liability, and an increase in eligible Canada-based and locally engaged staff.

The equity for Canada in the department increased by $42 million (4%) year over year to $1,044 million in 2009-2010 from $1,002 million in 2008-2009, mainly due to an increase in net results of operations. For more information, refer to the Statement of Equity and Note 3, Parliamentary Appropriations in the unaudited financial statements.³⁸

Total expenses increased by $65 million (2%) year over year, attributable to a $61 million increase in transfer payments, a $57 million increase in salaries and employee benefits mainly due to additional full-time employees, a $9 million increase in rental expenses mainly related to lands and buildings abroad, and a $6 million increase in amortization expenses. This was offset by a decrease of $32 million in expenses for the acquisition of machinery and equipment, including parts and consumables, which was due to an increase in capitalization of those expenditures; a $22 million decrease in professional and special services; and a $15 million decrease in information expenses. Various accounts made up the remaining year-over-year variance.

Total revenues increased by $33 million (8%) year over year, primarily due to a $46 million increase in revenues (mainly because 500,000 more passports were sold in 2009-2010 than in 2008-2009). On the other hand, the gains on sale of real property sold abroad decreased by $12 million as the department wrote down or wrote off more assets than it realized in gains; and other non-tax revenues decreased by $1 million.
